O. P. S. Offers Mansfield Rate Cut on 5-Year Contract Basis

Matsuoka Arrives for Berlin Conference

The oriental representative of the Axis, Japan's Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, is pictured as he was greeted upon his arrival in Berlin where he will discuss Japan's war cooperation with the Axis powers. Seen with Matsuoka are German Chief of Staff Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, left, and Japanese Ambassador Hirosi Oshima, center.

$70,000 Year Saving Seen

Company Manager Submits Plan to City Officials at Meeting Today; Would Cut Bills $1.50 to $9 Yearly.

The Ohio Public Service company today offered a reduction in domestic electric rates to consumers in the greater Mansfield area, proposing to incorporate the reduction in a five-year rate contract ordinance.

Joy A. Herbert, division manager of the company, estimated that the proposed rates would mean a saving of about $70,000 annually, or $350,000 in the five-year period, to some 12,000 consumers in the area affected.

The offer was made in a communication addressed to Mayor William J. Locke and city council, presented by Herbert to the mayor, Chairman Russell D. Porch of council's utilities committee and other city officials this afternoon at a meeting in the mayor's office.

If it is approved by city council, Herbert suggested that the effective date of the contract might be made July 1, contingent on approval of the program by the board of directors of the Ohio Public Service company.

He added that T. O. Kennedy, president of the O. P. S., had agreed to recommend board approval of the proposed rate here after it has been approved by council.

The proposed new rates, Herbert said, will be the lowest ever offered by his company in Mansfield, and as low as in any other city now served by the O. P. S.

This is the first time that the question of a rate contract has come before council. In the past, the company has operated only under the franchise for service it holds with the city, and questions of rate have not come up at regular intervals.

Accompanying Herbert's letter, setting forth the company's proposal was an ordinance, embodying the new domestic schedule.

Under its provisions, the very small users and the better than average users would benefit the most. Savings on monthly bills will range from about $1.50 to more than $9 a year, with the

GET 5 YEARS FOR KIDNAPING

O. S. R. Inmates Sentenced to Ohio Pen For Abducting Mansfield Man.

Three Mansfield reformatory inmates who made a daring escape the night of March 13 and were captured five days later in West Virginia, were sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for five to 30 years today after they pleaded guilty in Richland county common pleas court to grand jury indictments for kidnaping.

Sentence was imposed by Judge C. H. Huston just two weeks to the day after the trio threatened Guard Fred Williams with butcher knives, locked him in a refrigeration chamber and fled the institution dormitory.

The kidnaping indictments, returned secretly last week by the county grand jury, were based on the abduction of Harold Schnittke, 24, Mansfield, near Melco the night of March 15 by the trio as they fled south into West Virginia.

The youths forced Schnittke to drive them beyond Loudonville where they robbed him of $5, pushed him out of the car, and drove away in it.

"You fellows must learn that you can't kidnap and rob in this community to help you in your escapes from the reformatory," Judge Huston asserted. "We are continually annoyed by a few in-

Sancetta Files Suit Against Robert Firestone.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A suit asking $50,000 damages from Robert Firestone, Cleveland labor figure, on grounds that Firestone damaged his reputation has been filed by Frank Sancetta, agent in Foreign Exchange.

Firestone recently was convicted in Mount Vernon on charges of offering Harry Barrington, former Cleveland labor leader, $6,000 to escape from a prison camp, flee to Mexico and not testify in a case against another labor leader.

It was testified at Firestone's trial that he used the name "Frank Sancetta" in presenting himself to Barrington.

Flood of Phone Calls Puzzle to 'Hello Girls' Here

If you had trouble getting a telephone call through between 9 and 10:15 a. m. today, you were no more puzzled about the situation than Mansfield Telephone company officials.

For no apparent reason, the number of calls handled through the Mansfield exchange during that period jumped at least 25 per cent, and extra operators were summoned to help take care of them, company officials said.

Since there was no big news breaking during the morning to stir comment, company officials decided it was the beautiful weather that made subscribers feel good and want to talk to their friends and neighbors about it.

C. L. Lisle, equipment superintendent, estimated that between 10,000 and 11,000 calls were handled in the one hour and 15 minute period. The normal traffic for that time in the morning is from 7,500 to 8,000 calls.

Early morning usually is the busiest time for the telephone company, but officials were mystified over the spurt in calls this morning.

He Seizes Throne

In a night of wild rioting as demonstrators surged through streets of Belgrade, Peter II overthrew the pro-Axis regency last night and seized the throne. His first reported act, although unconfirmed, was rejection of the recently made alliance between his nation and the Axis powers.

RAPS CITY ON SEWAGE PLANT

Sowers Hits 'Inefficient' Operation, Says Plant Has Ample Capacity.

Sharp criticism of the operation of the Mansfield sewage disposal plant came today from George B. Sowers, Cleveland designer of the plant.

In a letter to Mayor William J. Locke, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and two members of council, Sowers charged that the plant was being inefficiently operated, and that it was being overloaded.

He recommended the issuance of $100,000 in revenue bonds to construct additional sewers and also that present sewers be cleaned more often.

"The operating personnel seems to have been not even trying to use the digestor part of the plant," said Sowers, "in fact it seems there has been a deliberate attempt to operate it inefficiently."

Mayor Locke said he had been busy and had not read Sowers' letter, which arrived yesterday. Director Crafton had no comment on it. Councilman C. N. Shultz, who received a copy of the letter said he believed the plant should be run according to the instructions

HUNT GIRL, 17

Mansfield Schoolgirl Missing, Police Start Search.

Mansfield police today broadcast a message throughout the state seeking Elizabeth Parrella, 17, of 146 East Fifth street, missing since Tuesday.

The girl's father, Leonard Parella, reported to police late yesterday that the girl had not returned home since Tuesday morning when she left for school. A check with school officials revealed that she attended classes and was dismissed in the afternoon with classmates.

Since that time no report has been received of her whereabouts. The missing girl is described as about five feet, six inches in height, is heavy-set, weighing about 160 pounds. She has dark hair and eyes.

Her father said that she was wearing a navy blue dress and a wine-colored reversible coat when she left home. He also said that she had no money at the time of her departure for school.

EXTEND SEARCH

Police Look Among Racketeers For Double-Slaying Clues.

WARREN — (INS) — Search for clues in the murder of James Munsene, 52, and his business partner, Felix Monfrino, 31, today extended to dog track racketeers in Akron, Youngstown and Pittsburgh as police expressed belief that greyhound racing "difficulties" was a likely motive.

Munsene and Monfrino, his nephew, were shot down in their Warren steak house.

Wild Rioting Marks Night In Yugoslavia

Regency Falls; New Ruler Reported Rejecting Axis Alliance as First Act; Crowds Mill In Streets, Shouting 'Long Live Britain.'

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The United States today formally promised the new Yugoslavian government lease-lend aid should it be forced to resist aggression.

BULLETIN

ANKARA, Turkey — (AP) — The official Turkish radio declared a belief today that "the Yugoslav army will defend the nation if necessary." Turks followed Belgrade developments with interest.

(By Associated Press)

Yugoslavia's 17-year-old King Peter II overthrew his pro-Axis regency and took the reins of government today after a wild night of rioting against the kingdom's adherence to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

Officially unconfirmed London reports said the first act of King Peter's new government was to reject the Axis.

This was supported by the fact that the new government which took over from the regency's "capitulation" cabinet included two ministers who resigned in protest against yielding to Germany.

Gen. Dusan Simovic, army chief of staff, quickly formed a new government with himself as premier.

Reports reaching Budapest said Regent Prince Paul had fled the country. Premier Dragisha Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Alksander Cincarmarkovic, who signed the Axis pact in Vienna only 48 hours ago, were said to be under arrest with other cabinet members.

Belgrade reports said many persons were killed and wounded in night-long fighting which preceded the coup.

The new government's reported action in throwing off the Axis yoke—possibly providing an excuse for German troops to march into the turbulent kingdom—coincided with a Belgrade radio broadcast ordering all reserve officers to report to their garrisons at once.

Yugoslavia is said to have mobilized 1,000,000 men in recent weeks.

All night long, great crowds milled in the capital and provincial towns, carrying British and Soviet flags and shouting: "Long live Britain and Russia! Down with Germany and Italy!"

After the coup, thousands gathered outside the Serbian patriarch's palace, shouting:

"Long live King Peter!"

In London, Prime Minister Winston Churchill greeted the coup with the fervid declaration:

"The Yugoslav nation has found its soul!

"A revolution has taken place in Belgrade . . . arising from the wrath of a valiant and warlike race who had their country betrayed by the weakness of their rulers and foul intrigues of the Axis powers."

Telephone communications with the Yugoslav capital of Belgrade were cut. Budapest reported. The last reports to come from there last night told of continued rioting and disorders in all parts of the kingdom in protest against the government's action in allying the nation with the Axis in Vienna.

Many of the rioters shouted "Long live King Peter" and denounced the three regents and the cabinet on charges of selling out to the Axis. Police battled the

Yugoslavia Finds Soul —Churchill

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Prime Minister Winston Churchill predicted today that the new Yugoslav government would repudiate the country's pact with the Axis

"Though I don't know what will happen and one cannot be sure of anything," he said, "I believe that it is reasonable to expect that we shall have a government in Yugoslavia which will repudiate the pact signed the day before yesterday and will be ready to defend the honor and frontiers of Yugoslavia against aggression."

Churchill spoke at a trades union congress luncheon.

Earlier he had told a meeting of the conservative party central committee that Yugoslavia had "found its soul" in "revolution" in Belgrade.

Speaking to that group, he said:

"At this moment I have great news for you and the whole country.

"Early this morning the Yugoslav nation found its soul.

"A revolution has taken place in Belgrade and the ministers who but yesterday signed away the honor and the freedom of their country are reported to be under arrest."

"This patriotic movement arises from the wrath of a valiant and warlike race who had their country betrayed by the weakness of their rulers and foul intrigues of

AID BILL GETS FDR SIGNATURE

New Law Expected to Provide 10,000 Planes, 400 Ships For Great Britain.

(By International News Service)

ABOARD U. S. S. BENSON—The $7,000,000,000 war-aid appropriation bill to provide Great Britain and other Axis foes with large quantities of warplanes, ships, tanks, guns, and food, was signed by President Roosevelt today.

The president's signature was affixed to the history-making measure aboard the presidential yacht Potomac at 10:50 a. m. E. S. T. The bill, which carries funds for the program authorized in the lend-lease act was flown to the president in a government seaplane.

The presidential action, taken under the unlimbered guns of the escorting destroyer Benson, was witnessed by members of the chief executive's party—including Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, and Harry L. Hopkins, the president's close friend and adviser.

Signed Tuesday by Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, and Vice President Henry A. Wallace, the bill now releases the money for the gigantic arms program.

CIO Headquarters Raided Following Fight In Richmond, Ind.; Labor, Public Watch Results of Bold Peace Move By Knudsen.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today urged states to speed up the formation of home guard units which would be available for use in event of serious labor disturbances or other civil conditions that might retard the defense program.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(U.P.)—CIO leaders refused today to call off their strike against the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company and to return to production lines.

(By Associated Press)

Police and about a hundred pickets battled this morning at Richmond, Ind., as the International Harvester company reopened its plant which had been closed since Feb. 17 when a CIO union called a strike.

Later state police raided the downtown headquarters of the CIO Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee and arrested all persons found there, charging them with assault and battery. During the fight at the plant no uniformed state police were in evidence.

Officers used night clubs to open a path for workers who were invited by the management to return to their jobs. The pickets shouted "we will not be moved," blocked the plant entrance and retaliated with ash clubs as police fought them aside. Police Chief E. H. Duckett estimated that about 600 workers got inside.

Threats of a walkout at three busy New York shipyards developed today while the government called abruptly on the management and striking employes of an important defense factory in Milwaukee to get back to work at once and settle their dispute later.

CIO shipbuilders at three large Bethlehem Steel company shipyards in New York harbor arranged to vote tomorrow on plans for an immediate strike. The yards employ 5,000 men and are jammed with work on American and foreign shipping.

But the chief interest of organized labor, industrialists and the general public centered on the

OPEN FESTIVAL

Chardon Residents Salute Old Residents at Maple Fete.

CHARDON, O. — (U.P.) — The 16th annual Geauga county maple festival—a sure sign of spring—opened its four-day merry-making program today with a salute to the old timers.

A golden wedding party, which included a waltz contest at the opera house, was the highlight on today's program. Couples married 50 years or more were honored along with residents of northeastern Ohio who have passed their seventieth birthdays.

Officials of the maple carnival expect approximately 150,000 visitors to attend the celebration.

Vining Sells Self to Sales People At First Session of Sales Rally

600 Present for Opening Lecture In Series By Selling Expert.

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

"Selling takes patience, respect for the customer's judgment, friendship, and a realization that part of your salary is in the customer's pocket.

"It's not what I say that is important. It's what you think while I'm saying it and while you are working tomorrow.

"Selling is something we all do to each other. Part of the time we are salesmen and the other part customers."

These are only a few of the selling epigrams given more than 600 sales persons and Mansfield shoppers attending the first meeting of Vernon E. (Sam) Vining's sales rally last night, at John Simpson auditorium.

Illustrating the high points of his talk with accounts of innumerable trips into department stores throughout the country to buy articles for his wife, Vining with a high degree of showmanship, easily sold his audience on selling

Vining, who will conduct similar meetings the next three Wednesday nights under the sponsorship of the Retail Merchants association, explained that the sales course would be a unique experiment.

TALK: Matsuoka and Hitler Confer on Axis Questions

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka called on Adolf Hitler today and they were reported to have engaged in "thorough-going conversations" covering questions confronting the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis.

The Japanese statesman saw Hitler after conferring for several hours with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, which an official announcement said produced "full understanding on all problems of the three-power pact."

Von Ribbentrop spoke in English, in contrast to his use of German in his talk with Sumner Welles, United States under-secretary of state, on the latter's visit here in March, 1940.

The explanation was that, in the case of an intimate friend, one can use English even in wartime.

When it was pointed out that Von Ribbentrop declined to address Welles in English, an authorized source rejoined:

"One can hardly claim Mr. Welles as a special friend."

The whole question of the position of the Axis powers in world affairs was carefully considered by Matsuoka and Von Ribbentrop, authorized sources intimated.

They emphasized in this question, however, that any nation now entering the war from any quarter would be regarded as enemies of all adherents of the tri-partite pact.

ATTORNEYS TO SPEAK HERE ON DEFENSE TOPICS

25 Register Names as Being Available For Talks To Various Civic Groups.

Continuing their educational program started last year, a number of Mansfield attorneys will be available immediately for talks on national defense, history, and government before Mansfield clubs and organizations, Atty. Marshall C. Moore, director of the programs in this area, announced today.

The lectures will be given free of charge under sponsorship of the Junior Bar conference of the American Bar association.

Approximately 25 Mansfield atorneys have been enrolled in the work and will speak to women's clubs, P. T. A. groups, church organizations, service clubs, and fraternal orders whenever time permits, Moore said.

Among the topics the speakers will use are "The Fifth Column in America," "The Selective Service Act," "Government Organization for National Defense," "Foreign Propaganda in the United States," "Collapse of Democracy in France," "History of Totalitarian Governments," "The Structure of Democracy," and others of current interest.

Club presidents and program chairmen can arrange for the talks by contacting Atty. Moore in the Walpark building, allowing for time to obtain a speaker for the meeting.

Included in the list of speakers available for talks are Attys. Harold Burns, John L. Catlett, Raymond J. Brown, George Biddle, Marshall C. Moore, Leslie Wagner, C. F. Freehafer, Earl Gaar, C. J. Kalbfleisch, Francis O'Brien, W. G. Clark, Marion D. Ward, Lydon Beam and Claude Ewing.

EAGLES FIGHT, FORGET QUARRY

MUSKEGON, Mich.—(U.P.)—Witnesses here watched three eagles engage in "aerial combat" for a small fish they forgot finally to eat.

Residents near Bear Lake channel in Muskegon Lake reported that one bold eagle that often stopped to eat fish tossed up on the ice was interrupted by the arrival of two others, who power-dived upon him.

The three fought for a time near a fish the first eagle had not yet dislodged from the ice, and then took off, still fighting, without their quarry.

CLAIM SETTLED

Judge Authorizes Settlement In Damage Action.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Eddy, Mansfield, had been authorized today by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer to accept $60 as damages for injuries received by their seven-year-old son, Merton, last Feb. 21 when he was struck by a car at Vale avenue and Lida street.

The amount was offered by Clarence Denny, driver of the car, who denied responsibility for the child's injuries.

SECRETARY OF CONSERVANCY DISTRICT TO GIVE TALK HERE

Bryce Browning, secretary of the Muskingum Valley Conservancy district, will be principal speaker at the annual inter-park card tournament banquet Monday at 6:30 p. m. at Liberty Park.

Mayor William J. Locke will also speak and present the William C. Mead plaque for the winning team in the 1941 tournament and the trophies donated by the Mansfield Park associations for the two players with the highest averages.

The banquet will climax the six-weeks competition of teams from the four parks in the association. Representatives of each park met every Monday night from Feb. 17 through Monday to hold pinochle and bridge contests.

The Mead plaque is presented annually to the team with the highest score. Any team winning it three consecutive years will be allowed to keep it permanently.

Competing for the plaque and trophies are Johns park, Liberty park, North Lake park and Prospect park teams.

This is the fourth year the teams have competed for the Mead trophy. Liberty park won it the first two years and Johns park last year. Final scores have not yet been released for the current competition but association officials announced that it will be a close race between Johns, Liberty and North Lake parks. Only a half point separated these three teams Monday night.

Approximately 100 persons are expected to attend the banquet. In addition to the 72 players taking part in the tournament, about 30 city and park officials have been invited to attend.

Serving on the committee in charge of the tournament and banquet are Roy Vaughn, president of the association, J. B. Miller, Edward Wyllie, Dan Wolff and J. F. Orr.

COASTGUARD IN STRIDE WITH DEFENSE DRIVE

Vessels to Replace Navy Units on Patrol Duty In Event of War.

NEW YORK—(NS)—The United States coast guard, in stride with the national defense program, today is undergoing the most intensive preparedness drive in its history.

"Always Ready" in peacetime to cope with any emergency, as its slogan implies, the guard now is preparing for the dangerous tasks it would face should the nation actually become involved in war.

Inasmuch as the coast guard becomes a part of the navy in the event of armed conflict, or "when the president shall so direct," its military importance as a combat force is obvious. When and if such transfer is made, the coast guard vessels may replace regular navy units for local patrol duty, thus freeing the latter for other more important assignments brought on by the national emergency.

Many steps are being taken to expand and "streamline" the service. A large number of new cutters have been authorized by congress and soon will be added to the fleet. Armaments are being enlarged or supplemented. The air strength, which has become a highly important factor in recent years, also is being readied for war-time duty.

Several thousand recruits, under present plans, will be inducted at the rate of several hundred a month. A training program by which sailors in the merchant marine can learn gunnery has been made available by the coast guard.

Thus the service is contributing its extremely essential part toward America's current attempt to avert war by one of the most effective means—preparedness.

One of the recent steps toward enlargement of the service's fleet was the addition of seven large, heavily-armed "pocket cruiser" cutters, each 327 feet long. There are now over 530 cutters and 300 miscellaneous vessels in operation. With the non-military reserve, however, the guard today has nearly 3,000 craft of all types at its disposal. Under the command of Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche, there are over 16,000 officers and men in the service.

Based strategically on the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Gulf, the Great Lakes and navigable rivers, as well as Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, the coast guard, as a result of the current drive, will present a formidable barrier to any nation entertaining thoughts of invasion of the United States.

STUKA TACTICS

HARTFORD, Conn.—(U.P.)—Using the German technique, a "dive-bombing" hawk conducted a "war of nerves" on the hundreds of starlings that roost on the sills of the Travelers Tower, New England's second tallest building.

The starlings presented an ever troublesome problem to owners of downtown buildings, and many ingenious devices were used in futile attempts to drive the bothersome birds away. Apparently the squawking hawk found the only solution. Since it commenced daily raids, the starlings have practically disappeared from the downtown scene.

BIRTHPLACE UNKNOWN

CINCINNATI—(NS)—If the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reisinger of Cincinnati grows up to become famous, her admirers will have a difficult time preserving her birthplace as a shrine in her honor. She was born recently in a grocery truck which was speeding her mother to a hospital.

'SAWYER TEST' REVEALS BODY

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa.—(U.P.)—Burgess Thomas of Phoenixville remembered some Tom Sawyer ingenuity and recovered the body of Benjamin Pogozelski from the Schuylkill River after police efforts failed.

Thomas dropped a loaf of bread covered with lard into the water and said, "When that bread stops and turns around, that's where the body is."

Sure enough, when the bread twisted around several times police discovered Pogozelski's body.

Kroger's Tenderay is FRESH & TENDER!

Buy beef as you buy all other foods---Fresh!

Kroger's Tenderay Beef is Always Tender. But it's more than that—It's Always Fresh! Freshness is necessary if you want all the fine qualities of beef—rich, savory beef juices; fresh, natural flavor; high vitamin content. Tenderay keeps these fresh beef values . . . and, by scientifically adapting Nature's own way, matches in a few short hours the same tenderness formerly reached by old-fashioned, weeks-consuming tendering methods.

TENDERAY SPEEDS UP NATURAL TENDERING 14 TIMES, OUTMODES WASTEFUL AGEING, CONSERVES VALUABLE JUICES, REDUCES LOSS OF NATURAL VITAMINS. KROGER'S TENDERAY IS THE WORLD'S ONLY GOVERNMENT PATENTED METHOD OF TENDERING FRESH BEEF.
GRADE FOR GRADE, NO OTHER BEEF SO FRESH CAN BE SO TENDER! THIS CLAIM CANNOT BE TRUTHFULLY MADE FOR ANY OTHER BEEF.

231 PUPILS AT APPLESEED GET TERM HONORS

Principal Announces Names of High Graders During 6-Week Period.

Announcement was made today by Glen G. Rohleder, principal of Johnny Appleseed Junior High school, of 231 pupils who received recognition at the school for scholastic achievement during the past six weeks period.

Leading the honor roll was the seventh grade with 13 pupils making a record of all A's in major subjects. Eighth grade pupils were second on the list with seven, followed by the ninth grade with a record of five.

Approximately 206 pupils were named for honorable mention and special recognition in academic work. Honorable mention requires a record of all A's and one B in major subjects. Special recognition permits one C in the record of A's.

The following pupils were named:

RANCHES SOLD

KINGMAN, Ariz.—(U.P.)—Sale of two Mohave county cattle ranches, totaling 149,000 acres, has been announced here. The former Henry Bacon ranch was purchased by Buford Slover of Douglas. It has more than 57,000 acres. The 92,000 acre Bonelli ranch at Fig Springs was sold to Al Smith of Kingman for an unannounced sum.

SHARECROPPERS

WASHINGTON—(UNS)—A year ago 1,500 sharecropper families of Missouri's "boot heel" were homeless. Today these same families have stocked their larders with $250,000 worth of food which they have produced themselves according to the Farm Security administration. The Farm Security provided the money for gardening and food preservation articles to families certified by relief or eligible for relief. Landlords gave free garden plots.

HOW CAN REALLY FINE COFFEE POSSIBLY COST SO LITTLE?

First, let's get clear as to quality. A&P Coffees are literally the pick of the plantations. We know, because they are selected right at the plantations by our own resident staff in South America . . . and A&P is the only grocer that keeps its own experts in the largest coffee producing districts of the southern continent. They're on hand to get first choice.

And right there, you find the clue to why such really fine coffee can sell for so little. From plantation through every step—testing, shipping, blending, roasting, packaging and selling—A&P Coffee is under our own control.

This not only assures top quality but also eliminates many extra handling charges and in-between profits that usually increase the cost of coffees. All savings A&P shares with you in the form of amazingly low prices.

There are three A&P Coffee blends to suit every taste; Eight O'Clock, mild and mellow; Red Circle, rich and full-bodied and Bokar, vigorous and winey. Try your favorite blend today.

CHAPTER X

Instantly a man appeared out of the night and the muscles of his scarred face relaxed when he saw who it was. "Miss Leland?"

"Yes," Joan faltered, "Here is a package from Mr. Miller."

"Danke schoen!" He saluted her and disappeared into the shadows.

Having accomplished her errand, Joan returned through the warehouse to the street. She shivered as the wind swept the rain in great guests. Thank goodness, her taxi was still there.

Quickly Joan ran to it, opened the door and climbed in.

"Good evening," Paul Sherman said.

He was sitting in the corner composedly smoking a cigaret. "I thought you might need me."

She felt his arm nudge her in warning as he glanced towards the taxi driver. "Don't talk now!" he said under his breath.

"Take me back to the club," Joan ordered.

But Paul said, "Drive straight ahead till I give you further directions. And step on it!"

Joan sat in furious silence as the driver obeyed Paul's orders. They climbed the slope of Nob Hill. Not until they stopped at a hotel and were settled at a small table in the grill did she turn angrily to Paul. "Would you mind telling me what is the idea of this? I happen to be working for Karl and he's expecting me back at the office."

The room was warm and gay and there was a hum of voices.

"Listen to me, Joan!" Paul said in a low voice. "You were right. I have been following you but only for your own protection. You don't know what you're getting into. I've tried to warn you but you won't listen."

"You have never said anything except that I wasn't the type to work in a night club." In spite of her annoyance, she felt compelled to listen.

"There are some things I can't tell you, but you must trust me. Do you think I'd be risking my own position this way if I didn't feel that it was terribly important?"

Silently she stared at him.

"I know you think you're in love with Karl," Paul went on quickly. "But if he is sincere Joan, why doesn't he ask you to marry him? Isn't that proof enough that there's something wrong with the picture?"

His steady brown eyes gazed into hers. She twisted her hands nervously. Paul's words had quickened the doubt in her own heart but she said calmly, "I don't see that it's any of your business."

He smiled wryly. "I'm only using that as an example to prove to you that Karl Miller is not on the level. Believe me, I don't go around meddling in other people's affairs without reason."

* * *

The sincerity in his voice was unmistakable as he continued, "I can't tell you now what that reason is. All I can do is to warn you that Karl Miller will never marry you."

Her voice was ragged with alarm. "How do you know? What right have you to say that?"

"You poor kid! You're really in love with him, aren't you?"

A lump rose in her throat. "He's wrong about Karl," she thought. "He must be. Karl loves me!"

Paul went on, "There's no use kidding yourself, Joan! Karl Miller will never marry you. If you don't believe me, why don't you ask him? Why don't you find out for yourself?"

Joan raised challenging green eyes to his. "All right! Maybe I will!"

Paul Sherman's warning had disturbed Joan. Much as she loved Karl, she knew she would be foolish to continue a romance which could not end in marriage. Paul had said that Karl would never marry her. Why? Paul had even challenged her to find out for herself whether or not Karl was sincere.

Joan was awake early the next morning. Lazily she watched Sybil dress to leave for the beauty shop.

"What are you doing awake at this hour?" Sybil inquired.

Joan sat up in bed and ran her hands through her hair. "I had a terrible night. You were asleep when I came in, so I didn't tell you. But Paul Sherman gave me another lecture about Karl last night. He told me that Karl would never marry me. And, Syb, I know it's silly of me, but I'm afraid . . ."

Sybil drew the shade and pale rays of December sunshine filtered across Joan's bed.

"Paul seems so convinced," Joan resumed. "I'm beginning to wonder if there is something I don't know. Something I should know."

Sybil fastened a rhinestone clip to the lapel of her smart gray suit. "I'm glad to hear you admit it. You're been blinded by your emotions long enough. And if there is some reason Karl can't marry you, or won't, you'd better be finding it out."

Joan regarded her sister thoughtfully. "You think that would prove whether or not Karl really cares for me?"

"Absolutely."

"I'm ashamed of myself for not trusting him. But you and Paul have disliked him so long it's beginning to have an effect on me. Yet Karl has been so sweet to me. I have no reason to mistrust him."

"Don't weaken now," Sybil advised, picking up her gloves and bag.

When Sybil had gone Joan tried to sleep but it was useless. At nine o'clock she rose, dressed, and drank a glass of orange juice and a cup of coffee.

Shortly before ten she left the apartment and went downtown. To satisfy her curiosity she walked past the shop where she had been employed formerly by Arthur Mulford. It was vacant and a For Rent sign hung in the rain-streaked window.

Karl didn't lie about that then!" she told herself, recalling that he had said Mulford had quit the importing business.

Why was she doubting him? Was it really because of Paul's warning? Or because of her own small doubts that she had concealed so carefully the last few weeks? Every suspicion seemed now to rise and confront her with exaggerated importance.

As she walked down Grant avenue, deep in her own thoughts, a voice surprised her. "Hello, Joan! What are you doing out so early?"

She looked up into the smiling face of Karl Miller.

"What's the matter, liebchen? You look surprised."

It was impossible to doubt him when she was with him. His magnetism banished her fears.

"I am surprised to see you," she admitted.

He took her arm and they walked slowly up Grant avenue past the shops, into the crowded narrow streets of Chinatown. Karl stopped at a sidewalk flower stand to purchase three waxen gardenias.

"We'll have lunch together," he promised, "and take a drive. Would you like that?"

Would she! Joan walked proudly beside him. She could see the envious glances of other women, smartly dressed women whose eyes measured the stalwart figure of Karl Miller appraisingly. But he had eyes for no one but Joan. As they sat eating lunch, served by a bland, unsmiling Oriental, Joan felt a thrill of pride. The thought of losing him aroused a savage emotion in her heart. Would he ever transfer the tenderness he had given her to another woman? How could she be sure unless . . . But Paul's words rang in her ears!" He'll never marry you. Ask him and see . . ."

"You are worrying about something," Karl said. "What troubles you?"

What would he think if he really knew? When she remained silent, Karl changed the subject. "By the way, did you see Paul Sherman last night?"

She hesitated for one cautious moment before she said, "Yes, I did."

Karl's smile was untroubled. "Ah? I am glad he found you. I sent him after you. I forgot to mention it last night when you got back to the office."

Joan's eyes widened. Karl had sent Paul after her? Certainly Paul had not given her that impression.

"Don't you believe?" Karl asked softly and Joan felt the color rush into her cheeks.

Karl, however, did not seem angry. He paid the check and together they walked to where he had parked his car.

It was not until they reached the beach that Karl stopped and said abruptly, "I know what you're thinking, Joan!"

She stared straight ahead into the blue waters of the Pacific. She did not know what to say.

"You are wondering," Karl Miller continued, "why I don't ask you to marry me."

Her heart beat heavily. She could not bring herself to meet those piercing blue eyes.

"Joan!"

She felt his hand strong and warm over hers.

"Look at me!" he commanded.

Blindly she raised her eyes to his.

"Will you marry me?"

She could not believe it. She stared at him as though she had not heard.

"No answer? You do not love me?"

"Oh, Karl! Of course I do!"

"We can't be married for two or three months yet," Karl said. "I want to get the club going first. Then we'll take a long honeymoon, maybe to South America. Would that make you happy?"

Tears trembled in her green eyes. 'Happy? I'm so happy I can't speak."

"You must learn to trust me. Joan! I would have asked you before to marry me, but I wanted to be secure financially. You understand?"

"Of course I do, darling!" How could she have doubted him? Paul Sherman had been so sure that Karl would not marry her! How wrong he had been! How wrong Sybil had been! Karl had been misjudged by them all.

"I'll never doubt him again," Joan vowed as they drove back to the Club Elite. She sat contentedly with her arm tucked through his.

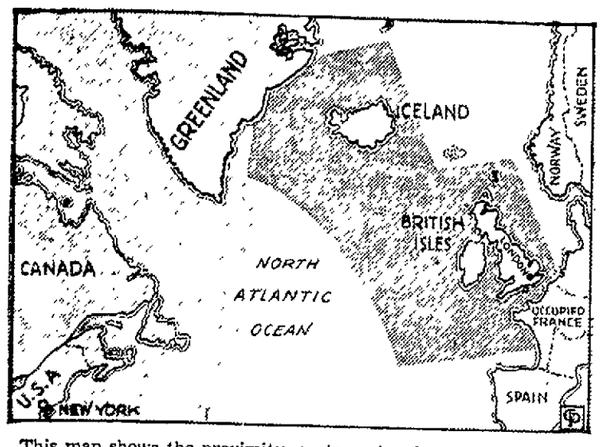
Iceland In Blockade Zone



This map shows the proximity of Iceland, now in the German blockade zone, to Greenland and the North American mainland. The German government has warned navigators against approaching theisland which has been occupied by British troops since shortly after the German occupation of Denmark, Iceland's sister nation, last May. The shaded area (the new blockade zone) on the may shows how belligerent waters now reach to within three miles of the Greenland coast.

BUYERS BID UP INDUSTRIALS OVER A POINT

Market Brighter as Brokers See Optimism In Reports From Yugoslavia.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Buyers re-entered the stock market today and bid up recently lagging industrials fractions to more than a point.

Prominent on the come-back were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Westinghouse and American Telephone.

Optimistic interpretations of the anti-Axis military coup in Yugoslavia, brokers said, had much to do with reviving early speculative sentiment.

Business news, including mounting railway traffic, public retail spending and climbing industrial indices served to prop many individual stocks.

O. P. S. OFFERS RATE CUT ON 5-YEAR PLAN

Annual Saving of $70,000 Seen In Proposal Made To City Officials.

average being close to $6, Herbert estimated.

Herbert explained that after an agreement had been reached with the city of Elyria for a lower rate schedule to become effective July 1, he pointed out to the company's board of directors that Mansfield consumers were paying a higher rate, and urged that they be granted the same consideration

In order to vote such approval in time for the reduction to become effective by July 1, council would have to give the measure a first reading at its next regular meeting Tuesday night, with the second and third readings at the May and June meetings, unless the bill should be considered at special meetings in the interim.

"Naturally," said Herbert today, "the company must find some way to make up the loss of the $70,000 in annual revenue brought about by the rate reduction

"We hope to do this by increasing our sale of electricity to domestic consumers — to persuade them to use more electrical appliances, to enjoy the conveniences of their use

"It will be our task to show them that as a result of this rate reduction they can now afford to use more electricity for the same cost"

Herbert said that Mayor Locke had conferred with him at various times in the past relative to the possibility of a rate reduction for Mansfield

In addition to Elyria, Lorain and Sandusky are now paying the same rates as those provided for in the new Mansfield schedule

Mansfield's last rate reduction came about five years ago, when the O P S eliminated the $1 service charge from its domestic rate schedule and substituted the 85-cent minimum, for which the consumer received five kilowatt hours of electricity.

The new schedule provides a minimum charge of 80 cents for which the consumer received 10 kilowatt hours

Following is the proposed new schedule

First 10 kwh .....$0.80 (min.)
Next 65 kwh .....04 each
Next 125 kwh .....02½ each
All over 200 kwh 02
The present domestic rate is as follows:
First 5 kwh .....$0.85 (min)
Next 30 kwh .....05 each
Next 165 kwh .....03 each
All over 200 kwh .....02 each

The consumer who uses 40 kilowatts per month, and has been paying $2.50 for them will find his bill cut to $2, the new schedule shows.

The consumer who uses 200 kilowatts for which he has been paying $7.30 will find his bill cut 77½ cents, to $6.52½, under the new schedule

The following table shows the present bills for varying amounts of current consumed as compared with the same bills under the new schedule and the savings on each:

Kwh. Used	Present Rate	Proposed Rate	Savings
30	$2.10	$1.60	.50
35	2.35	1.80	.55
40	2.50	2.00	.50
50	2.80	2.40	.40
100	4.30	4.02½	.27½
150	5.80	5.27½	.52½
170	6.40	5.77½	.62½
200	7.30	6.52½	.77½

the Axis powers," the prime minister continued

'We may therefore cherish the hope—that a Yugoslav government will be formed worthy to defend the freedom and integrity of their country

"Such a government in its brave endeavor will receive from the British empire, and I doubt not in its own way from the United States, all possible aid and succor."

Then Churchill spoke of the battle of the Atlantic and assured his listeners that "before many months are passed I shall be able to declare to you that it has been decisively won"

Churchill told the meeting that since "the dark hours" when the German panzer divisions swept into France, Britain had "a series of notable victories"

"First of all" he said, "there was the frustration of Hitler's invasion plan by the brilliant exploits of the RAF.

"Secondly, there was the frustration of his attempt to cow and terrorize the civil population of this country by ruthless air bombing

"Thirdly we have the destruction of Italian power and empire in Africa by our armies there XXX

"But there is another supreme event more blessed than victories namely the rising of the spirit of the great American nation and its ever more intimate association with the common cause.

"Britain could, I believe, save herself for the time being. But it will take the combined efforts of the whole of the English speaking world to save mankind and Europe from the menace of Hitlerism and to open again the paths of progress to mankind."

The prime minister said the "interests of national unity" caused him to forego producing a "catalogue of war aims and peace aims."

"I was glad to see that the illustrious leader of the American people, President Roosevelt, is of the same opinion, though in our correspondence the topic has never been mentioned," Churchill added recalling President Roosevelt's statement that there was not much use talking peace aims until Hitler was defeated

"For the time being" he continued, "the defeat of Hitler and Hitlerism is a sufficient war aim and will open the door to every worthy peace aim' mates of the reformatory who think they can prey on residents of this county in their attempts to escape" he added

Indictments for robbery and auto theft also were returned against the fugitives, but they were not used and the youths were not asked to plead to them.

Sentenced to the pen were Ronald Long, 24, Cincinnati, Elwood Deckerhoff, 24, and James Layton, 26, both of Columbiana county in northeastern Ohio All of them had been paroled from the reformatory. Long was to have been freed July 1 and the others next Oct. 1. Long was serving sentences for robbery, burglary, and larceny, and the other two were under one-to-15-year sentences for assault to rob

Long told Judge Huston in court today that the escape had been planned only one day. He explained that he started on his crime career because he lost his job in Cincinnati and had no money.

Layton was the only one of the trio who had been married, he said He told Judge Huston his wife left him several years ago and he had no idea where she went Deckerhoff said his trouble started after he was discharged from the army. He enlisted in 1934 before he was 18.

The youths readily pleaded guilty to the kidnaping charge and answered Judge Huston's questions freely.

VINING SELLS SELF AT RALLY

600 Present For Opening of Lecture Series By Expert In Salesmanship.

In addition to his informal lectures, minus the usual charts and statistics the course will include a sales person-shopper selling contest never before tried in any other city of the country

Vining said that if successful the experiment, known as the "Mansfield plan," would be used in other cities.

He promised a course defining selling with "no frills, no cleverness, and no tricks."

Vining urged sales persons to treat customers as they would wish to be treated if they were buying

In between the many important points Vining sprinkled little examples of showmanship with stories twists in the red firemen suspenders which he wore, rumpling his hair and making faces

The rule for good selling, according to Vining, is the same as that for good living Liking people well enough to get fun out of doing something for them'

"True friendship is not enough in selling" said Vining, "unless it is backed by a sense of responsibility in seeing that the customer gets his money's worth"

Vining will deliver lectures each Wednesday through April 16 on "The Merchandise You Sell," "The Customer You Sell," and "You, Yourself Incorporated."

In the final week of the course a sales contest will be held unique in that shoppers will be given a chance to participate and win prizes Sales persons will wear large buttons with their names and a number on them while competing for the prizes Shoppers noticing unusual sales incidents will write a letter to the Retail Merchants association naming the clerk Prizes will be awarded to sales persons exhibiting the best sales ability and also to the shoppers writing the prize-winning letters

Ray Calene, president of the association, welcomed those attending the meeting and introduced Vining Calene also explained the rules of the contest and asked for questions from sales persons with special problems

Vining wound up his first lecture with a humorous and instructive comparison of an expensive and cheap flatiron Showing the excessive heat given off by the latter he fried bacon, an egg toasted bread and made coffee, all while ironing. He then presented persons in the audience with the expensive iron, two copies of his book on sales slants, and finally, to a flustered young women, his red suspenders!

One barrel of flour is considered sufficient for an average of 270 one-pound loaves of bread.

EVER stop to figure why Nature gave you both a nose and a mouth to breathe through?

Your nose, barring colds, does all right for ordinary purposes.

But go up against some heavy exercise – and you can open up your mouth as well and increase the intake of oxygen.

Your 1941 Buick with Compound Carburetion* works something like that.

Its "nose," which is the forward one of your two thrift-size carburetors, does a grand job of supplying "breath" for your engine on normal jobs.

But when the time comes that your engine has to dig in for a tough pull or a burst of power, then your extra foot-pressure on the gas treadle opens up the "mouth" and your engine "breathes" through two carburetors.

Simple, isn't it? Yet look what happens:

Your engine always consumes gas according to the need.

By simply taking it easy when easy does it and breathing deep when the work piles up, your power plant gets as much as 10% to 15% more mileage from the same gasoline.

That, in these days, is nothing to be sneezed at.

So why don't you get the whole story from your Buick dealer?

Norris Speaks as Labor's Friend

WIDESPREAD public support of the legitimate aims of organized labor has had a considerable influence in the almost unbroken progress of this movement in the United States during the past half century.

Under the Constitution, and through the enactment of favorable federal and state laws, the welfare of that particular minority group engaged in a wide variety of manual tasks has become increasingly safeguarded against exploitation, discrimination or mistreatment by employers.

This is a part of the American program of social and economic advancement to which this nation is dedicated—and which is possible only in a democracy in which the principle of equality and presumption of self-governing ability is accepted.

Such episodes as have been occurring in Bethlehem, Pa., Chicago, and in other strike-distributed industrial centers, savor strongly of rebellion against the orderly processes of the government which has granted privileges far greater than those enjoyed by labor in any other country in the world.

Nor have the incidents associated with strikes called because of jurisdictional disputes between competing labor organizations tended to inspire public confidence in the

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal . . ."—Declaration of Independence.

("Art" reprinted from yesterday, picturing an incident of the International Harvester strike in Chicago . . . expressing "equality").

intelligence, capability and patriotic Americanism of the leadership of these bickering groups.

The appearance of racketeering by building trades unions in connection with fees and dues filched from unemployed men seeking work on public defense jobs has been another point of serious disapproval and resentment.

It is in this connection that the venerable Senator Norris, of Nebraska, longtime supporter of labor legislation, wrote letters to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O.

"During all my public service," Senator Norris wrote, "I have been, I think, a consistent friend to organized labor. I have in my weak way fought for it. But labor itself cannot expect its representatives, either in congress or out of it, to sustain any action that requires a man who is out of work to pay a fee of $50, $100, $150, and in some instances $250, for membership in a local union, in order to get a job."

Reports indicate that there are thousands of unemployed men, needing work, who are barred from vital defense jobs because they cannot pay the fees required.

It has been estimated by army construction officials that at Fort Meade, Md., alone, under closed shop agreements, two unions took $400,000, or more, as "initiation fees" and dues, out of wages paid to workers.

It appears that Fort Meade was chosen for special investigation because of its nearness to Washington and that reports are being received to the effect that conditions are even worse in some other army camps.

Friends of organized labor will hope, with Senator Norris, that honest leaders and the millions of loyal and law-abiding Americans who are union members, will quickly find a way to stop such practices and also to remove the strike menace from the national defense program.

Otherwise, as Senator Norris said: "I am satisfied that congress is going to be called on to take action in regard to it."

Training for Sales Work

SUCH a course in salesmanship as that which opened at John Simpson Junior high school auditorium last night—to continue through three more Wednesday nights—has value far above its cost.

And it may be doubted if any better equipped person could be found to conduct such a course than Mansfield's own "Sam" Vining, whose natural talents and tremendous energy have been supplemented by years of experience and study in this particular field.

"Selling," in its true sense, is much more than the perfunctory job that is sometimes made of it, and training in the science and art of salesmanship is essential to even a fair degree of success in retail merchandising—beyond the "Nothing else you wanted, was there?" stage.

While especially valuable to young persons who have recently entered, or who contemplate entering, the selling vocation, the potential benefits of this course should not be overlooked by older salespersons—or even by some store proprietors themselves—except those who feel quite sure there is nothing more to be learned.

Indifference May Bring Disaster

STRANGE how many people there are in this country who have not yet become keenly aware of present perils—people who, while in many intelligent and loyal Americans, still seem indifferent to the totalitarian manner of life and the sort of civilization which their children may have to live hereafter if the dictators have their way.

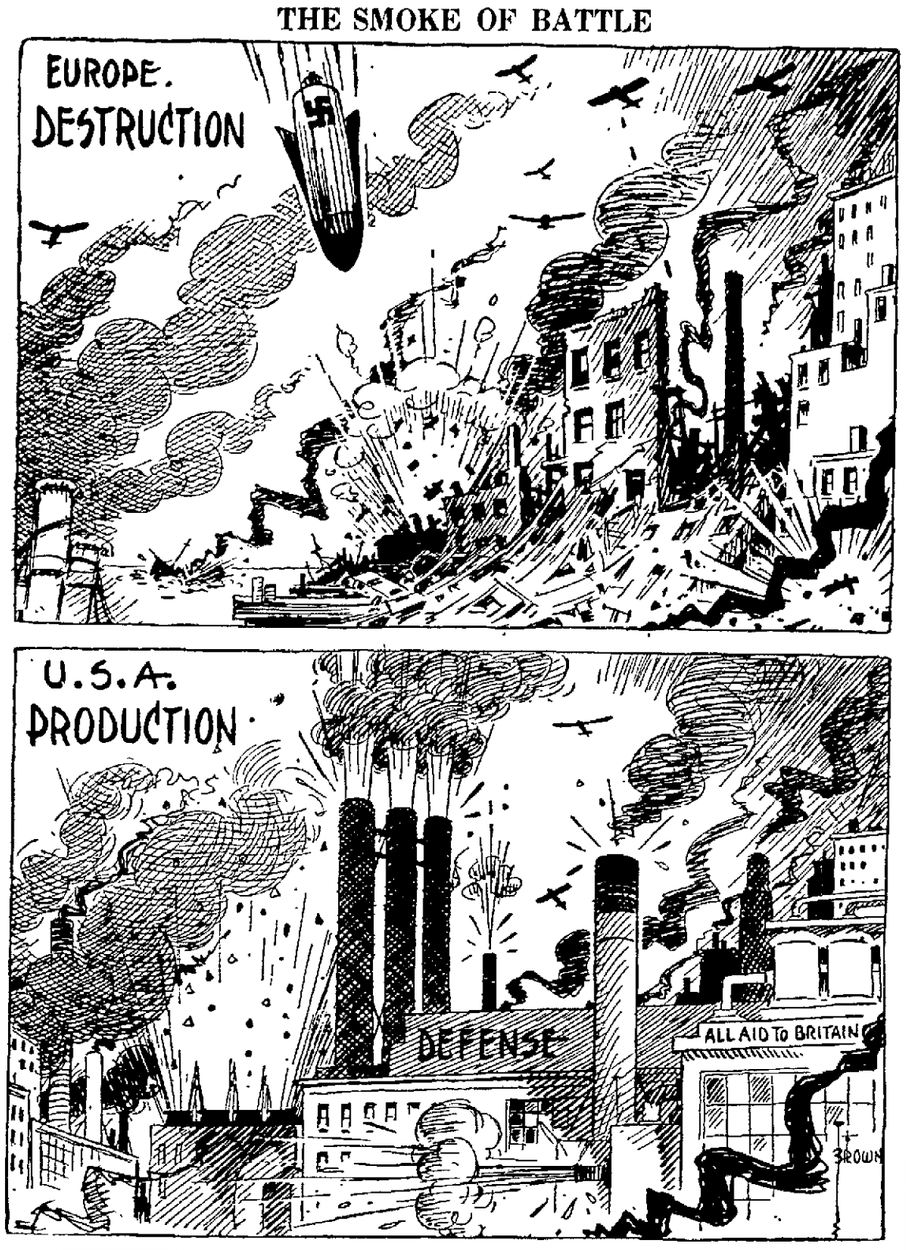
This attitude seems especially strange in the case of citizens who are as insistent as ever on their own customary rights and privileges, and who bristle at any suggestion of making sacrifices for the country in a crucial time.

Such people must somehow be awakened to present realities and responsibilities. It is indifference, more than anything else, that has sacrificed so many free nations to the worst tyranny this world has seen since the dark ages.

A college history professor, who has looked into the matter, reports that "our country was not built by boys afraid to take a chance."

It's only before they get it that people know what they want.

THE SMOKE OF BATTLE



Listen World!

'Keep Me Alive'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THOSE moods when you feel fed up with everything . . . when you'd "like to get away from it all" . . . make a new start . . . find your real self and the life that self was meant to mean. . . .

Every year you feel those moods, don't you? Every year, watching the earth break into a foaming tide of bud and blossom, you feel an anger and despair because spring seems dead in your own heart.

That's how Knut Toring felt as he scattered spring seed in his field. Years before he had played in that field as a Swedish peasant boy. Then, lured by the city, he had gone away. Achieved success . . . married . . . had children. And the years came and went from the window of a famous office. But something in him was never satisfied. There was a hunger—for what? He did not know. But perhaps he'd find the answer if he could walk away . . . go back to the land of his lost dreams.

(How often you, too, have thought that—turning your face toward Yesterday, wondering where you made the wrong turning on the road!)

So at last Knut Toring took the reckless step . . . gave up his well-paid job, his comfortable home, the wife he admired, the children he adored, and went back to his peasant birthplace to find the answer to life. And, of course, there was no answer there. The youth he had left behind him, the young ecstasy and rebellion, had gone forever. He had become a man. There was no miracle which could make him a boy again or give him a boy's singing heart.

There was no answer. There were only new challenges, new struggles which he had no zest to face. His heart seemed dead inside. Why, he wondered, were men born, if life deserted them like this?

Standing there in the field, sowing his seed, with the urgent spring foaming all around him, Knut Toring rebelled . . . felt he had been betrayed. Then suddenly, looking at the seeds within his hands, he began to perceive the truth.

Life didn't betray men. Men betrayed life! For life wasn't something that came to you automatically, by mere existence. It wasn't something you could obtain by simply changing your place or position. It was something within the you which you, yourself, must cultivate, lest it die. Something you had to nourish . . . like a seed . . . or a flame . . . for the sake of all the race. To pass life on more abundantly, that was the meaning of a man's life and the greatest satisfaction he could know.

Life itself was the only answer to life!

Standing there, with his feet rooted in the steaming earth, and his face upturned to the streaming sun, Knut Toring felt the truth rising through him, breaking into words that were a prayer. And he cried:

"Keep me alive, O God!
Preserve me from decay and death
While still living on this earth . . .
I am a tiny grain among millions in your vast storehouse;
Let me fall into soil
Where I can sprout and grow.
Allow my little grain to bear sixty-fold fruit.
Preserve the spirit which you have breathed into the dust of my body.
Keep me alive, O God!"

You'll find Knut Toring in Vilhelm Moberg's great new book, "The Earth Is Ours." You'll find yourself there, too—all your restlessness and rebellion, all your longing for an answer that will keep life real and whole. And, if you have the wisdom, you'll find the answer, too, in just five words.

"KEEP ME ALIVE, O GOD!"

Public Anger Rising.

A recent America Speaks poll indicated a sharp rise in six months in the number of Americans dissatisfied with defense progress.

Six months ago only a minority expressed dissatisfaction. Now a majority is disturbed by the failure to make faster progress, the chief complaint being against the strikes that have interfered with production.

Perhaps it is not fair to blame the unions exclusively, as those polled generally did. It takes two sides usually to make a fight. But, fairness aside, union leaders will be well-advised to study thoughtfully the results of this poll.

There is indicated a rising tide of public anger against readiness to strike in the face of the Nation's dire need for arms production. If ever there was a time when union leaders should use the strike weapon sparingly, reluctantly and only as a last resort, this is it. The alternative is plain to see that otherwise repressive measures must follow, which all of us either now or later will find reason to regret.—Detroit News.

This Is Ohio

IN THE FALL of 1888, many Ohio soldiers of the Civil war took part in the dedication of a bronze statue of Gouverneur K. Warren, at a spot on Little Round Top, Gettysburg battlefield.

General Warren was a soldier and an engineer. As an engineer he completed improvements on the Ohio river which meant much to river navigation. But it was at Gettysburg, July 1-3, 1863, that he rendered his most distinguished service. On the second day of that vital struggle, he discovered that Little Round Top, the commanding position, was undefended except for a few signalers. He intercepted some troops, many from Ohio, practically commandeered them for the defense of the hill just in time to keep Little Round Top from falling into the hands of the Confederacy.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Isolationists Decide to 'Lie Low', Fear Backlash of Public Disfavor

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—That big isolationist pow-wow in the office of Senator Hiram Johnson of California didn't justify the aura of mystery that surrounded it. No plots were hatched.

The meeting was called by Johnson and three other isolationist chieftains—Burt Wheeler, Gerald Nye and Bob LaFollette—to rally their battered ranks following enactment of the lend-lease bill. But as a pep session it proved about as inspirational as a pall-bearers' convention.

Most of the 18 legislators present were willing to call it a day, despite strenuous pleas by the four hosts and Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, a covert Roosevelt-hater, to "keep up the fight" against aid to Britain.

Wheeler belligerently served notice that he had no intention of "hoisting the white flag," would carry on a radio battle against the lend-lease program. Walsh fulminated about turning over naval equipment to the British. Nye, somewhat extraneously, declared he was drafting a bill for a nation-wide "advisory" referendum on the question of war.

However, they got small response. The majority agreed with Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho that the best strategy is to "lay low" for the time being in view of the established policy of American aid to Axis foes.

"I'll probably vote against the seven billion lend-lease appropriation," the Idaho senator said, "but I can't see that we'll gain anything by continuing to blast away. We were licked badly and might as well admit it. Roosevelt has us backed into a corner and it would be foolish to continue the fight until we get another issue we can sink our teeth into. Otherwise, we may run into a backlash of public resentment. Let's bide our time until Roosevelt makes another move we can capitalize on."

The meeting broke up on this note.

Under the Dome.

AT LEAST $500,000,000 of the $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation will be expended on agricultural commodities. As tentatively allocated, $300,000,000 will go for wheat, fat and oil products, dairy goods, meats, canned products and other foodstuffs, $150,000,000 for cotton and $50,000,000 for tobacco. . . . When he was assistant secretary of labor, brainy Edward F. McGrady used to work fifteen hours a day and he is now doing the same thing as $1-a-year labor adviser to War Secretary Stimson. . . . November 1 is a long way off, but the Affiliated Young Democrats of New York, leaders in the draft Roosevelt movement, already have booked Madison Square Garden for a giant "Draft LaGuardia" rally on that night, the last Saturday before the mayoralty election.

Comic Opera.

THE HANDLING of the aluminum shortage problem has reached the comic opera stage.

It's been headed that way ever since Edward R. Stettinius, attractive young chief of Raw Materials for Defense, solemnly proclaimed there was no danger of a deficiency in this vital metal—despite the warnings of plane makers and experts.

Stettinius doggedly stuck to his stand until one day he suddenly slapped aluminum on the priority list—thereby completely reversing himself and admitting he had been talking through his hat.

This move was followed by announcements that in order to make the supply of the metal go as far as possible for defense purposes, its use in consumer articles, such as refrigerator ice trays, would have to be curtailed. But the latest antic is really funny.

From Stettinius' office, plane makers received a telegraphic order not to sell their scrap aluminum. Beyond that there were no instructions. So they kept it and soon had large piles of scrap aluminum cluttering up their plants, taking up valuable space. Finally they complained to Washington, wanted to know what it was all about.

Explanation they received was that the scrap was wanted for re-smelting.

The plane makers couldn't believe their eyes, because the shortage in the metal is not in ingots but in sheets and forgings. So the plane makers let out a loud snort; whereupon another explanation was forthcoming.

Explanation this time was that the scrap was desired for its magnesium content.

This time the plane makers groaned in despair. For although aluminum does contain a small percentage of magnesium, apparently the Stettinius masterminds did not know that there is no known process for recapturing magnesium from scrap aluminum. It boils off when the scrap is melted.

Farm Bureau Federation.

MOGULS of the powerful American Farm Bureau federation are ready to say "uncle" and make peace with the administration.

Up to a year ago the Farm Bureau was the fair-haired boy on farm policy, largely due to the suave astuteness of Ed O'Neal, federation president, and his personal friendship with Roosevelt. The organization carried a lot of weight with the president and Wallace, so that hundreds of its local dealers got lush federal jobs administering the vast AAA program.

But at heart most of the federation's generalissimos never were very hot about the New Deal, and last year they began demanding greater local control aimed at running the program themselves. And in a showdown over domination of the Federal Land Banks, Wallace rapped them over the knuckles and the battle was on.

Soon it spilled over into the political arena, when cornbelt Farm Bureau leaders, led by ambitious Earl Smith of Illinois, dumped the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket and put in some heavy licks for Willkie.

Willkie's defeat knocked the props from under the boys and behind the scenes they have been getting increasingly jittery because they've always leaned pretty hard on their "in" with the reigning administration. With many jobs and other "gravy" at stake, the prospect of being in bad with the powers was not healthy.

So, reverting to the old realistic axiom, "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em," the boys have propositioned Clifford Townsend, Defense Agricultural Advisor and former New Deal governor of Indiana, on being their peace-maker.

Townsend was one of the organizers and first leaders of the Farm Bureau in the Midwest. Yet when he stumped that area for Roosevelt and Wallace last fall he bumped up against the bitter opposition of many of his old associates. So he has not yet decided whether to be peace-maker.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—We are told that Noel Coward will be in town within 48 hours, but it would not surprise me—48 hours from now—to pick up a newspaper and read that he has become the house guest of Lord and Lady Tweedle in Toronto or that he is on a China clipper bound for Guam.

The nervous, dapper playwright has always been a restless wanderer, and many of his best successes have been written on the road. "Private Lives" was composed in a Chinese hotel, on one of his Oriental treks while he wrestled with a four-day siege of the flu. He says he wrote it all in four days, in longhand, that it came easily and without a hitch.

I WAS thinking of Coward in connection with an observation of George Jean Nathan, who opines that sophistication is dead in the theater, for the present anyway. It would be impossible for Coward to write an unsophisticated piece. He epitomizes the word. But perhaps it is true that under the stress of war people—for the time being—are weary of cleverness.

Still, Noel Coward, goaded by a maelstrom of nervous energy, has always managed to meet the times with comedies and dramas that succeeded with ridiculous ease. He flew in from Australia a few weeks ago and remained in Hollywood. Before this he commuted between London, Paris and New York—all in the interest of the British government. It is said that he is engaged in intelligence work of some sort, he doesn't explain its nature.

Indeed, he doesn't admit—not openly—that he is doing government assignments. But it has been one of those open secrets for months that Coward's part in this war has been dictated by high British officials. And he comes and goes with too great a regularity to be traveling for fun.

SEVERAL years ago he celebrated his twenty-one years in the theater by writing his autobiography — "Present Indicative" —a book that opened on a comedy line and ended on a tranquil little note at sea—a note that now would turn him and all Englishmen gray with horror.

The opening line says simply: "I was photographed naked on a cushion very early in life, an insane, toothless smile slitting my face and pleats of fat overlapping me like an ill-fitting overcoat."

His last line says: "When we came up on deck, there was no England left. Nothing but sea and sky."

It occurs to me that nothing could persuade Noel Coward to set down those identical words on paper today.

* * *

SPEAKING of the theater and such, business continues to be quite brisk in the bright light district. Right now there are 29 stage presentations of one kind and another, some of them well sold in advance. "They Walk Alone," an imported English killer-chiller, is just starting what may turn out to be a good run. Another new offering is "Five Alarm Waltz," which very easily might be a play about Saroyan (whose last name seems to be enough these days). There are no Saroyan plays on Broadway at the moment. The guy must be slipping.

A Farmer's Diary

They Did Not Speak

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUTSIDE the newspaper office in my home city, I saw two little boys of five, perhaps, skipping along the sidewalk. Both wore warm dark coats and helmets. One had his arm around his companion's neck and when they turned once to look back, I glimpsed two beaming faces and two pairs of bright dark eyes that fairly snapped. Early youth, I thought, all unconscious of itself, with spirits overflowing like a rippling fountain.

They came to a tempting display of fruits and candy behind a plate glass window and flattened their little noses whitely against the pane. One pointed with a definite forefinger and both smiled and pretended to be sampling what they saw. The pantomime seemed to give them satisfaction.

When I came up to where this little drama was enacted, I placed my hand upon one tiny head and said, "How are you, young man?" To my surprise, he made no answer, though he did not seem disturbed — and I noticed his lips were quivering. I touched the helmet of the other boy and greeted him. He looked surprised and moved his lips like one who feels the urge to speak but does not know the use of language.

Just then a woman, who had followed, came up.

"Do you know these little boys?" I asked her.

"Yes," she said. "They live at my house five days a week and go to school. Their home is in a neighboring town. They cannot hear nor speak. Notice," and she motioned one of them to her. He came close and looked eagerly into her face. "Bow," she commanded, and the youngster made such a sincere and gracious bow that I was touched. The other had come up. "Skip," she said to him, in her natural tone, and obediently he skipped like a little fawn before us. I learned they were not brothers, yet it was a sweet and close companionship.

I wondered, as I went on, how it must seem to live in silence all one's life. For them will not exist magic rhythm or concord of sweet sounds, nor joy of human speech. Yet for this loss they may have compensations, too . . . peaceful expression of that deeper inner self, and sensing of other human beings' thoughts and moods that is the joy of higher living.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Finding a New City.

I always love to walk the streets
Of cities strange and new.
The very air seems glamorous,
And as you turn each view

Of unknown thoroughfares gives out
High wonder that the heart
Delights in. There is mystery
In every busy mart.

Accustomed streets, like old friends are
Beloved, but known so well
Fall in the tale that cities, new
And explored, can tell.

POLICE FIGHT PICKETS WHEN PLANT REOPENS

CIO Headquarters Raided at Richmond, Ind.; Knudsen Move Watched.

government's bold bid for peace in the Milwaukee plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, where work on $45,000,000 worth of national defense orders has been halted since Jan. 22 by a CIO-called strike.

Defense Production Chief William S. Knudsen and Navy Secretary Knox took unusual action in this dipute yesterday, telegraphing the union and management that "public interest demands that our national defense program not be handicapped by unnecessary strikes."

"We can no longer wait for a settlement of the strike by ordinary means," the government officials declared. "We must ask you to notify your entire force to report for work and start operations immediately."

Knudsen and Knox dropped no hint of how they would proceed if their demand was disregarded. However, the selective service act provides that if a plant "refuses" to manufacture armament ordered by the secretaries of war or navy, the president may take possession of the factory and operate it through the army or navy, paying a suitable rental to the manufacturer.

An Allis-Chalmers official predicted his firm would accede to the officials' request. But Harold Christoffel, president of the striking CIO local, declared the strike would go on unless the union membership votes otherwise. A union meeting "to act on the entire strike situation" was scheduled for Saturday.

A CIO strike was in progress at the Bethlehem steel mill at Bethlehem, Pa. After violent clashes between strike sympathizers and law officers Tuesday, orderly picketing of the plant was resumed last night under the watchful eyes of 200 Pennsylvania state policemen.

A CIO committee scheduled a meeting today with the company's industrial relations director to discuss the union's complaint against permitting the rival employes representative plan to hold an election in the mill. The CIO union contends ERP is an illegal company union.

Bethlehem officials claimed the plant remained in operation despite the strike.

At Chicago, the International Harvester company claimed that 4,164 workers were at work yesterday in their McCormick plant, compared with a normal day shift of 5,344. Striking CIO employes claimed the company's figures were exaggerated.

Heads of 100 local CIO unions in various mills of the United States Steel corporation — "big steel"—were summoned by the CIO Steel Workers Organizing Committee to meet today at Pittsburgh to discuss a deadlock in negotiations for a new contract to supplant the existing labor agreement which expires next Monday midnight. The union wants wage increases for the company's 261,000 employes, and exclusive bargaining rights.

The CIO threatened to close the huge U. S. Steel mills at Gary, Ind., for 24 hours if the union encountered interference today when "dues picketing" was due to be resumed.

At Washington, Dr. C. A. Dykstra, chairman of the national defense mediation board, said his organization would keep in close touch with labor controversies over the United States, although the board lacks power to act until counciliation efforts have failed.

Appalachian bituminous coal operators and representatives of the CIO United Mine Workers continued their negotiations at New York toward a new contract, with a vital deadline approaching swiftly. The present contract expires at midnight Monday. The union demands include $1 a day wage increases for 330,000 miners in an eight-state area.

The CIO and the United Shoe Workers of America announced they would carry out an "intensive organizing drive" in the shoe industry.

POLICE HUNTING 2 HIT-SKIPPERS

Witnesses Say Car Knocks Man Down, Another Runs Over Him.

CANTON — (U.P.) — Police today sought two hit-skip drivers whose automobiles ran over and fatally injured William J. Dickey, 70, in a downtown street.

Witnesses said one car struck Dickey and knocked him down. As spectators started to help him another car ran over his body. Both drivers failed to stop.

RAPS CITY ON SEWAGE PLANT

Sowers Hits 'Inefficient' Operation, Says Plant Has Ample Capacity.

of its builders and felt that the city should follow Sowers' recommendations.

Commenting on claims that the plant is inadequate to handle the volume of sewage reaching it, Sowers said "How can the city know that additional capacity is needed when they do not operate the plant properly to learn its capacity?"

The city has been by-passing partially treated sewage at the rate of more than 3,000,000 gallons a day into Rocky Fork creek as an economy measure since December 1.

The engineer said that he believed if the plant was run as it was constructed to operate that there would be ample capacity for all sewage.

He said he could think of no valid excuse for by-passing sewage into creeks. There being a surplus in the sewer fund, he said he could see no need for such economy in its operation. At the time of his inspection on March 11, Sowers said that the primary treatment tank could have held enough sludge for four or five months.

According to Sowers, more than a dozen similar plants in different parts of the country have been operating efficiently. He recommended that the entire plant be put back into proper operation at the earliest possible time.

The proposed bond issue, said the engineer, should be used to repair and clean sewers and to build relief sewers. Sewage from the low level is now pumped into the plant. Sowers said that the city could effect a saving by bringing the sewage through the higher level. This would eliminate much of the present cost for pumping. The improved sewer system would also deliver the sewage in a fresher and more easily treated state, he said.

Mayor Locke indicated that he would call a meeting of council members and a citizens' committee to consider the recommendations made by inspectors of the city plant recently.

F. H. Waring, chief engineer of the state department of health, also urged the city to issue bonds for general improvements in the sewer system earlier in the week.

A HOUSEHOLD HELP OVER 20 YEARS

That's a record of merit to be proud of. For more than twenty years the famous World's Tonic has given laxative help to thousands of families in fighting off indigestion, gastritis, sour stomach and the cramps and pains that often come with these ailments. Says Mrs. Gertrude Major, 989 Kenneth St., Coshocton, Ohio "My condition was so bad from constipation that I began to get stiff and sore in my back and joints. Sharp, piercing rheumatic-like aches and pains at times were almost unbearable. Speedy constipation relief with World's Tonic soon took these resulting pains away, and I now feel so good I can hardly believe it's me." World's Tonic contains many roots, barks, herbs etc. picked in the old countries, and at proper seasons. Used for many ailments by thousands of families for over twenty years. BOY KING GETS CONTROL OVER YUGOSLAVIA rioters at many points and schools were closed at least until Monday as a result of all-day disturbances of students.

Regency Falls After Night of Wild Demonstration In Streets of Belgrade.

Continued demonstrations, said to be based on nationalist agitation and on food shortages, also were reported in many cities of French-mandated Syria where many sources expressed belief High Commissioner General Henri Dentz would be forced to grant some concessions when he meets nationalist leaders Saturday.

There was little action on the fighting fronts. Bad weather kept bombers on the ground in the western air war and London had its sixth raid-free night. One raider skipped across the channel to the southeast coast this morning, dropped a stick of bombs and machine-gunned the streets of a town.

Hear Belgrade Gets Military Governor

The British radio, heard by CBS, reported that a military governor had been appointed for Belgrade, who issued a proclamation declaring:

"The glorious Yugoslav army is ready to defend the independence and integrity of the country.

"The army has taken the oath of allegiance to the new war minister, General Ilic."

The commandant appealed for the people to stand united behind the army.

The British radio also broadcast two proclamations which it said had been issued by young King Peter.

The Serb military organization "Tepici" expresed its loyalty to Peter in a broadcast, and the powerful Sokol athletic organization called upon its members to be present at a mass meeting at 5 p. m. in Belgrade for instructions.

Reports from Belgrade pictured crowds swarming into the streets immediately after they heard of the change of government.

Flags and bunting were broken out, and buildings were decorated.

Marching throngs cheered the new monarch, who ordinarily would not have taken over the throne until Sept. 6, his 18th birthday.

All railway trains were halted at the Yugoslav frontier, and passengers were not permitted to enter the country.

All telephone calls, even diplomatic communications, were cut.

Among several Belgrade radio broadcasts were on declaring "events in Yugoslavia are a purely internal adjustment without any connection with foreign affairs."

"The people showed that the former government was unsuitable to lead a united people," it added. "All that happened was in the interest of the whole nation."

Berlin Says Yugoslavs Won't Risk Break

BERLIN —(UNS)— Firm conviction that Yugoslavia will not risk the "disastrous consequences" entailed in denouncing adherence to the tripartite pact was expressed in Berlin today.

News of King Peter's seizure of power electrified Berlin in the midst of official ceremonies in honor of Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka.

But official spokesmen insisted that the legal status of Yugoslavia's adhesion to the Axis had not been altered. A change of regime in Belgrade does not absolve the new government of responsibility for respecting the committments made at Vienna.

German authorities assumed an attitude of watchful waiting pending definite clarification of the situation.

The Reich, it was said, is ready to deal with any "contrary eventualities."

German quarters contended the new Yugoslavian government will be "obligated" to continue adherence to the tripartite pact.

Democratic Leaders In New Cabinet

ROME—(U.P.)—Jugoslav quarters said today that Jugoslavia's new cabinet contains many democratic leaders and friends of Britain, but they reported receipt of special advices saying that Jugoslavia's adherence to the tri-power pact would be recognized as accomplished fact.

These quarters, quoting the same special advices, reported that the new cabinet was drafting a program based on "peace abroad and internal order" and that efforts would be made to bring Jugoslav neutrality within the framework of the tri-power pact.

Jugoslav quarters pointed out, however, that the new cabinet contains a large number of democratic leaders, friendly to Great Britain.

Report Russia Gives Support to Yugoslavia

VICHY, France —(U.P.)— Balkan diplomatic sources reported today that A. V. Vishinsky, Russia's first vice commissar for foreign affairs, had notified Milan Gabrilovich, Yougslav minister to Russia, last Friday that if Germany violated Yugoslavia's frontiers, Russia would re-examine its relations with Germany as defined in the Russo-German accord.

Garbilovich telegraphed his government, according to the reports, urging it to withhold all commitments to Germany until it had received a full report from him.

The government declined to wait, it was said, and as the result he resigned.

GRADE SKIPPING HELD TO HARM BRIGHT PUPILS

Progressive School Finds Age Classification Is Best Guide.

EVANSTON, Ill.—(U.P.)—Even if Johnny or Mary is unusually bright and easily could skip a grade this year, parents should forbid it unless they want their child to become an academic "grind" or a social misfit.

That is the warning issued by the Children's Progressive Demonstration School on the basis of its 15 years' experience with pupils of superior intelligence. The warning came from Miss Clara Belle Baker, director of the school since it was established in 1926 as part of the National College of Education.

Still working on the problems of how rapidly to advance the superior child, she now has 225 pupils to observe—children of nearby Chicago's professional people who pay from $180 to $300 annual tuition to have their youngsters educated the progressive way.

In a summation of her conclusions on superior children for the school's parent-teacher council, she began by startling some of the parents with a flat statement:

"Parents and teachers are more often than not the unwitting cause of turning a child of superior intelligence into an academic recluse or "grind."

She pictured the parents of a bright youngster caught between the horns of a dilemma: either letting the child stay with his classmates of average intelligence, in which case he becomes an "intellectual snob;" or allowing him to advance academically whence he finds himself in the company of older children more developed physically and emotionally than himself, and hence escapes from the competition by becoming a bookworm or "grind."

She emphasized, in conclusion, that the placement of a child in an age group in which he fits from a standpoint of social, physical and emotional development is more important than putting him in a group that has similar attainments in academic subjects."

The first U. S. president who was born an American rather than a British subject was Martin Van Buren.

All-City Symphony to Appear In Four Concerts Next Week

Organized last fall with 60 of the best musicians from orchestras of Senior, Simpson and Appleseed schools, the All-City Symphony orchestra, pictured above, will present four concerts next week at the three schools. Programs will be presented for the pupils of Appleseed and Senior high schools Wednesday at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. respectively and for those at John Simpson junior high school next Thursday at 12:40 p. m. The public is invited to attend the fourth concert at John Simpson auditorium next Thursday at 8:15 p. m.

HI-Y CLUB TO STAGE DANCE

A dance with "surprise music" will be given by the John Simpson Hi-Y club at the school Friday from 8 to 11 p. m.

A program of dancing and music will provide entertainment, according to Harold Strain, chairman of the program committee. Daniel Kirkpatrick will be toastmaster.

Members of the program committee are William Gandert, entertainment; Donald Watson, decoration; John Gibson and William Kline, refreshments; and Daniel Kirkpatrick, publicity.

$2 SHELTER SAVES FAMILY

LONDON —(U.P.)— Seven lives were saved by a shelter which cost only 10 shillings to build when a high explosive bomb fell only three feet away.

The shelter consisted of a hole in the ground roofed with corrugated iron and lined with planks.

Musical Program Part Of Meeting of Guild

There were 35 members of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church guild present at the church yesterday when Rev. Paul H. Saleste led the prayer and Mrs. Katherine Klinger gave the scripture reading. Mrs. Florence Schaller, accompanied by Mrs. Elsie Ireland, gave a vocal selection, and Mrs. Rose Crider gave a reading.

Arrangements were in charge of Miss Anna Hunter, program, Mrs. Schaller and Mrs. Katherine Wertz, social committee. The next meeting will be held April 9 with Mrs. Anna Gimbel in charge of the program, and Mrs. Emma Smith and Mrs. Mary Schaller on the serving committee.

Sorority, Fraternity Plan for Party April 5

Plans were made to have one social and one business meeting each month of Alpha Sigma Chi sorority last night when members met with Mrs. Margaret Sites in charge at the club rooms. The group will meet for a business session April 9, and plans will be made then for a box social to be held in May.

The coming party of Phi Sigma Chi fraternity, brother organization, was announced for April 5. Hostesses last night were Mrs. Henrietta Esselburn and Mrs. Margaret Hagedorn. Prizes in the card games were won by Mrs. Marie Sites and Miss Betty Bottomly.

Aid Division Has All-Day Meeting At Edith Litt's

An all-day meeting and covered-dish dinner was the event of members of Division B of the Ladies Aid society of the First United Brethren church when Mrs Edith Litt, 641 West Fourth street, entertained yesterday. There were 21 present. Mrs. Leonard Hutzelman led the devotions, after which Mrs. O. E. Chronister conducted the business meeting.

Three new members, Mrs. Al Hutzelman, Mrs. Wayne Roush and Mrs. Ray Scott, were welcomed into the organization. Guests were Rev. and Mrs. James L. Boyer, Rev. and Mrs. Donald V. Hall and Mrs. Ward Barrett. The afternoon was spent in sewing for the Red Cross.

Members will be the guests of Mrs. Barrett, 448 Glessner avenue, for an all-day meeting and covered-dish dinner April 30.

Excelsior Class Meets With Miss Helen Koch

The monthly meeting of the Excelsior class of the First Lutheran church was held yesterday with Miss Mary Baer, 110 Carpenter road, with Miss Helen Koch assisting. Mrs. Lenore Harnly led the devotions, and after the business meeting the members sewed quilt patches, and wrote a letter to Miss Norma Harrison who is taking nurse's training in Cleveland. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Mary Hinz and Mrs. Edna Stevens.

Refreshments were served at a long table lighted with pink tapers and decorated with matching sweet peas. There were 11 members and two guests present, Mrs. Harmon Baer and Mrs. Harry Koch. Members will meet with Mrs. Hinz and Miss Evelyn Timmons for the next session.

Club Entertains Guest At Meeting

Games were the diversion, and prizes were won by Mrs. Carrie Norris, Mrs. Orville Smith, Mrs. Darrell Kidwell and Mrs. Remy. Mrs. Smith will have the meeting of April 9 at her home, 210 East Fourth street, with Mrs. Kidwell assisting.

STUDY CLUBS MEET, CONDUCT PROGRAMS

Conversational Members Hear Talk on Buying, Two Papers Given at Sorosis; Nomad Members Elect Mrs. Robert B. Black, President.

IN THE study club world of Mansfield the leading events yesterday concerned themselves with several organizations. Mrs. Walter Willis, Highland avenue, entertained members of the Conversational club, and Mrs. George Hypes gave a paper on "Consumer Buying." She discussed the grading of all kinds of foods, discussing the economy and appearance of various grades.

Miss Elizabeth Smurr presided when refreshments were served. The table was decorated with pansies. Mrs. W. E. Wygant will entertain at the Women's Club April 9 with Mrs. Walter Goodenough as program leader.

Two papers were given last night when members of the Mansfield Junior Sorosis met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Moellenkamp, 466 Overlook road. Miss Florence White spoke on "Style Trends" discussing the direct influence wars have on styling apparel. She gave each member a chart of spring color schemes.

Mrs. Harold Mansfield gave a scientific review of the history of diagnosis and treatment and the use of medicine. She told of the use of the sulphur drugs, and reviewed the diagnosis and treatment now given for tuberculosis and infantile paralysis.

The next meeting will be held April 9 with Miss Margaret DeWitt, 199 Helen avenue. Mrs. Walter Mickey will give a book review at that time.

Nomad club members, meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Meihack, Park avenue west road, Wednesday afternoon for their final session of the season, elected Mrs. Robert B. Black as president for the coming year. She will be assisted by Miss Helen Hurst, first vice president; Mrs. Rufus A. Tracy, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Dickey, secretary, and Mrs. Meihack, treasurer. Mrs. William Weldon heads the program committee.

Following the luncheon at 1 o'clock and the annual business meeting, Mrs. Dickey spoke in detail of the life and works of Archibald MacLeish, versatile writer. Assisting her with the topic were Mrs. Hurst, Mrs. D. O. Meese and Mrs. William Layton, who read various works of the author.

Four guests attending the meeting were Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. Edward Dann, jr., Mrs. Henry Sanford, and Mrs. Fred Tracy. Mrs. J. A. Rigby, an honorary member, also was in attendance.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 28.

Rather complex and complicated situations may be expected on this day, according to certain conflicting or confusing planetary operations. While in routine matters things may run in customary grooves, yet there are outstanding trends of a unique, intriguing or strategic importance which may graviate around public, community or fraternity interests. These seem to affect the inner private, emotional, cultural or spiritual life in its various creative expressions.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves deep in a year of unique, mysterious or intriguing experiences, with their emotional, cultural and inner creative urges under rather confusing or bewildering but constructive impetus. This may be in connection with group, collective or humanitarian projects.

A child born on this day, while having many practical and constructive abilities, may also possess spiritual, emotional, visionary or over-idealistic tendencies.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Before I could answer Dicky, Helena Brixton interposed with voluble protest.

"How perfectly ridiculous!" she exclaimed. "Why should she have to go down with you to see about your car. Don't you know enough to see to it yourself?"

She gave the light laugh which was the appropriate accompaniment to her purposely ridiculous question, and Dicky waved an airy hand at her.

"I might, if it were my own car," he said. "But it happens to be my lady's car"—he gestured toward me—"and I've learned from sad experience not to butt in when it's a question of her car."

"What absolute rot!" Helena countered emphatically. "I'll bet Madge doesn't know anything more about the 'innards' of a car than I do."

I didn't, but there was no use in acknowledging her indictment, especially with Dicky expecting me to play up to him.

"You're sure you want me to go with you, Dicky?" I said dutifully, conscious that he was repressing a grin with difficulty.

"When, my Sweet," he declaimed, "did I ever not want you? And, most especially, do I need you on this garage trip. Don't you remember my telling you on the way down, that something was wrong with the car?"

"Yes, I remember," I told him. "You said you hoped we'd make it here, but that we'd have to see a garage man as soon as we reached here."

"Exactly," Dicky said with the gravest of faces. "So, if you'll excuse us, Helena, we'll run down now. Then we can be back in plenty of time for dinner. We don't want to delay that on two counts, respect for our hostess, and the wild anticipations of our tummies."

We made our escape to the accompaniment of their laughter at his sally. But Sam Brixton followed us out to the car.

"I'll just give you a note to my garage man," he said, pulling out a card and a pencil, scribbling on the card, and thrusting it into Dicky's hand.

"Thanks, old man!" my husband answered warmly, but when we were in the car, and he had driven it outside the vision of the hearing of our host, he stopped the car, and gave vent to his special brand of picturesque profanity.

"If you can tie that," he said, finally. "If you can even pin it! Of course Sam'll ask the man what was the matter with the car, and he'll tell him the truth, not a d—d thing."

"Perhaps he will find something," I said hopefully and banally, and my husband glared at me.

"What a help you turned out to be!" he said bitterly, and I cudgeled my brains for some suggestion which would have more appeal for him.

"Do you suppose this man will have the agency for this car?" I asked.

Dicky's hand clapped my shoulder with such force that I involuntarily winced. But he did not notice my reaction as he exuberantly exploded his approval of my suggestion.

Gets Award From Legion Head

Louise Briggs, 15, above left, a junior at Madison high school, receives an award as winner of the American Legion state essay contest from State Legion Commander Ralph Stone. Louise was one of 12 students in the state winning trips to Washington, D. C., for prize-winning essays on Americanism. The award was made yesterday afternoon at a school assembly.

MADISON HIGH GIRL AWARDED SURPRISE TRIP TO WASHINGTON

Brown-eyed Louise Briggs, 15, junior at Madison high school, received the greatest surprise of her young life Wednesday afternoon at a student assembly when she heard her name called as one of the 12 state winners in the essay contest sponsored by the Department of Ohio American Legion.

Totally unexpected by her, the honor was conferred at a recognition program conducted by officers and representatives of the American Legion headed by State Commander Ralph Stone of Conneaut, R. B. Gardner, past state commander, and Earl Saltzgaber, commander of McVey Post.

As state winner for eleventh grade girls, Louise will receive her first glimpse of Washington, D. C., and other historic places next month when the dozen successful contestants leave on a nine-day trip as guests of the state department of the American Legion.

Awarded third place in the Richland county contest, Louise had gone to assembly Wednesday anticipating only the price of $1 given for this particular classification.

Upon receiving the check from Post Commander Saltzgaber she returned to her seat to listen to the remaining ceremonies. Gardner, presiding chairman, brought Louise to her feet a second time when he announced her as a state winner eligible to a trip to Washington.

She read her prize winning essay on "Lincoln and the Constitution" which Commander Stone said "showed extraordinary thought and fine work."

Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Briggs, East Mansfield residents.

Commander Stone in speaking briefly to the students emphasized the interest of the Legion in building better citizenship.

"We are responsible for keeping on," said the commander as he reminded his young audience that "the United States is the only country yet existing where a large group can get together."

Greetings from McVey Post were brought to the assembly by Commander Saltzgaber. Others in the visiting delegation were W. I. DeWeese of Columbus, director of youth activities for the department of Ohio, Adjutant C. B. Harris of McVey Post, and H. D. Bishop, assistant principal of Mansfield Senior high school and chairman of the essay contest in Richland county. Olan LaRue, is superintendent at Madison school. The girl will make the trip to Washington April 19.

The Legion delegation prior to visiting Madison school had been at Mansfield Senior high school where cash awards were presented to prize-winning students by Earl Saltzgaber.

First prizes of $5, second prizes of $3, and third prizes of $1 were awarded as follows: tenth grade, Ralph Tycod, and Janis Carter, first; Jack Marshall, Marojrie Wentz, second, James Bierly, third.

Eleventh grade: Patricia Heiber, first; James Tuttle, Dorothy Hanner, second; twelfth grade, Julia Fishback, first; Hobart Adams, Mary Beer, second, Adren Miller, third.

UPSET TRAIN SIGNAL

SYDNEY, N. S. W. —(U.P.)— Twenty ants held up a Melbourne electric train for 20 minutes. The train was halted by an automatic signal which showed danger. When efforts to correct the signal failed, mechanics were called. They found the ants in steel casings surrounding the sensitive track relay mechanism.

DIES IN WEST

James Harvey, 48, Succumbs After Long Illness.

CRESTLINE — James Harvey, 48, died Saturday at the Veterans hospital in Tuscon, Arizona, after an extended illness. He served overseas during the World war.

Harvey was born Sept. 7, 1892 in Crestline, the son of the late Patrick and Mary O'Rouke Harvey. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Antonio Rovatz of Crestline, and one brother, Edward Harvey of Galion.

The body will be returned to Crestline, Thursday and will be taken to the home of a niece, Mrs. Roy Paynter, South Thoman street.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Rev. F. A. Slattery pastor will officiate, and burial will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

CRASHES STORE WINDOW

SUNBURY, Pa. —(U.P.) —A five-prong buck deer, frightened by traffic on one of Sunbury's main streets, crashed through a plate glass window of a store. The proprietor rolled about the floor in a "hand-to-hoof" struggle for more than five minutes until help arrived. The battle was in vain, however, for the deer was released.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Piqua Man Could Soon Notice a Big Difference In the Way He Felt

Claims his sleep was broken several times each night by disturbing nightly risings. Suffered pains and cramps in legs and hips. Bee Bee's gave him splendid results.

"I was always tired until the last months. I suffered from a serious kidney [illegible] which caused unnecessary suffering," says Mr. C. C. Tobias, Tu grove of apt. R. F. D. No. 1, Covington, O.

"My sleep and rest was broken several times each night by too frequent kidney action. The urine passages were accompanied by a torturing burning and smarting sensation which made it still more burdensome. My back, arms, wrists, legs and hips were full of sharp pains. My muscles and joints were so stiff and sore. Dizziness and spots before my eyes were common and aggravating.

"After taking Bee Bee's for only a few days I could notice a big difference in the way I felt. Those terrible cramps and backaches are only a memory now and nightly risings have been reduced. Before I used Bee Bee's my wrists were so stiff and swollen if I turned my hand or lifted something my wrists were full of pain.

"I am recommending Bee Bee's to everyone who suffers with kidney troubles. Try it, and see for yourself."

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any similarity to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

LYDIA was an important (and rather young and rather pretty) executive in the Manhattan office of a big ad agency. Among the radio programs she was in charge of was one we will call the Snappy Dramatic Hour, because that was not its name, which was directed by a fellow named Douglas. A frequent actor on the Snappy Dramatic Hour was a stage hero named Carl, whom Douglas had discovered and brought to the microphone.

One day Douglas had to go to the coast on business and when he returned to New York he found he was no longer directing the Snappy Dramatic Hour. Lydia was. He also found that Lydia was carrying on a big romance with Carl, and that she had him emoting, not only on the Snappy Dramatic Hour, but on virtually every other soap opera and play program handled through the agency.

Then came the summer. Carl's agent sent him to Chicago to play in stock. Lydia took her vacation, announced she was going to Hollywood, and went to Chicago.

Meanwhile, the Snappy Dramatic Hour had been going to the dogs, largely because Lydia couldn't keep her mind on love and the ether at the same time. So while she was away the head of the agency came to town, conferred with the other executives, learned of Lydia's affair of the heart, and put another director on the Snappy Dramatic Hour, permanently.

When Lydia returned she found she was in the bad graces of the company, and when Carl returned he signed to do a Broadway play, and gave Lydia the brush-off.

But ironically, the agency kept him on in just one serial show—the one Lydia is allowed to direct. Lydia is desperately unhappy, because Carl has another girl now, and he takes Lydia's direction without comment and leaves the studio without even speaking to her.

She could fire him. But she can't bring herself to, because then she'd never see him—unless she paid $4.40 for a ticket to his hit!

But you can't print that. After all, what does it prove except that you can't mix business with monkey business

JOSEPH is a famous commentator. You know his voice when you spin your radio dial, and so do millions of others.

But he wasn't always a commentator, or a public personality. Once he was in the movie business, and in those days he was in love with a girl who danced in the line of one of the world's greatest precision choruses. Their love affair was the talk of the chorines in the group, and everyone thought how nice it would be if Joe and Marie got married.

But Joe decided he wasn't the marrying type—and he stuck to the decision even when Marie came to him and told him of their coming child.

Desperate, Marie turned to Roger, the dance director of her chorus, and told him her story. Roger was kind. He gave her enough money to have her baby and saw that she got her salary while she was in the hospital and her job back when she came out. And after the baby was born he arranged a meeting in his office between Joe and the girl.

But Joe was adamant He refused again to marry Marie, insulted her and denounced her. Then he went out. And as he left Roger said to him solemnly: "You'll pay for this Joe. Maybe not with money or marriage, but you'll pay, some way."

Three weeks later Joe was driving his car along a Long Island highway when he crashed into a tree. Passersby dragged him from the wreckage and rushed him to the hospital, and he pulled through—but with great scars that will stay with him for the rest of his life.

And although Joe is a success now; he's not happy. He can't wipe off his scars. And every time he looks at them, he remembers that if he had married Marie, he wouldn't have them — because when he crashed in his car, he was driving to a rendezvous with her successor.

But you can't print that. Marie might read it, and be reminded of the darkest days of her life. And she's happy now. She's forgotten—which is more than he'll ever be able to do.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood is getting along. There is no stopping progress.

Once (I take the words of a cynical friend, doubtless dyspeptic) there were producers who made pictures with no idea what they were doing — from start to finish.

ROBBIN COONS

Today there are a couple of pictures in progress whose producers have everything in hand except one — the finish. They have ideas on that score, too, but they haven't made up their minds.

"Tom, Dick and Harry" is one. George Murphy, Burgess Meredith and Alan Marshall are the three men in Ginger Rogers' life. Ginger can't decide which to marry. You won't know until the end of the picture which she chooses—and to make the suspense genuine, Ginger isn't knowing either. Neither is anybody else as the shooting progresses. It's to be decided later.

"The Night of January 16" is the other. Ellen Drew is on trial already for murdering somebody, but who has been murdered hasn't been decided yet. The killing occurs at the start of the film, but the producer hasn't selected the victim. In the play, on which the script is based, the audience by jury vote had to decide the guilt or innocence of the heroine, thus leaving her fate in doubt from performance to performance.

The screen play, which has changed the plot considerably, now has half a dozen possible endings from which one will be chosen—but not before it's decided who is to be killed.

So here's Ginger not knowing whom she's to marry, and Ellen not knowing whom she's killed, and the suspense is killing us all. If Robert Taylor were Tom or Dick or Harry, there'd be no doubt, but with a trio like Murphy, Meredith and Marshall, none of them fore-ordained girl-winners, Ginger has a problem. Ellen's is, on the whole, simpler. She knows, at least, that the killee is not going to be Robert Preston. He can't be erased because he's co-star.

SENATE STUDIES TRIPLE TAX ON RACE BETTING

Measure Would Increase State Income From Tracks To $350,000, Estimate.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Ohio senate today took up the troublesome question of whether to triple the tax on race horse betting and establish stricter regulation of the tracks.

The measure before the senate for a vote would give the state three per cent of all money wagered. The state's "take" now averages slightly more than one per cent.

The bill also would increase the tracks' share of the money bet from 9 per cent to 12, but Senator Grant T. Ward (R.-Columbus), its author, said the figure would be cut back to 9 by an amendment.

He estimated the state's income from horse racing would be hiked from $12,000 a year to $350,000.

Up for a vote in the house was a bill to create a state board for surveying and conserving Ohio's water supply.

The senate, meanwhile, messaged to the house an approved bill requiring the registration of all voters. Approximately 2,139,300 city voters are now registered and the measure would affect an estimated 1,660,000 residents of rural areas.

Senator George C. Hunter (R.-Lawrence) told the senate that in the Ohio river counties ballots were cast by residents of Kentucky and West Virginia.

A bill to require semi-annual inspection of automobiles at a fee of 50 cents each was shelved indefinitely by the senate rules committee yesterday.

Senator James Metzenbaum's bill to create a state building authority with power to issue $20,000,000 in bonds for welfare institution improvements received the informal endorsement of members of the banks and loans committee.

The measure seeks to circumvent the constitutional state debt limitation of $750,000.

Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood told the committee that 4,000 mental patients ordered committed to state hospitals could not be received because of lack of space. An additional 3,000 should be committed, he said.

In the house finance committee the biennial appropriation bill was changed to assure full-time pay on a 40-hour week to highway department maintenance and repair workers, Chairman Paul Ballard said. These employes now are paid by the hour.

WAITS RULING

Ashland Prosecutor Asks Aid In Priest's Case.

ASHLAND—Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling announced today that he is awaiting a ruling from Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert as the case of Rev. William E. Rooney took a new turn.

An indictment charging the priest with whipping Virginia Barrett, 17, was returned from Stark county yesterday, still unserved on Rev. Rooney.

Sheriff Richard France of Stark county said that Dr. Arthur Hyde, superintendent of Massillon state hospital, where Rev. Rooney is confined, refused to accept the serving of the indictment.

Siverling has already instituted a motion in common pleas court to have an inquiry into Rev. Rooney's sanity.

10 ACTS IN WAR RELIEF SHOW

Midnight Performance Tonight at Theater Will Help Raise Funds For Greece.

Mansfield's contribution to the national Greek War Relief will be in the nature of a variety show at 11:30 p. m. During the past few weeks managers of the five local theaters have combined efforts to plan the stage and screen show.

Cities throughout the country have been staging similar benefits. All talent, operators and employes of the theaters are donating their time and service for the production, the proceeds of which will be sent to national Greek war relief headquarters.

Ten acts are scheduled for tonight's performance, among them a 20-piece band, which will be directed in turn by Robert Richards, Bill Grassick and Fred Judd. Don McLaughlin, young Mansfield tenor, who has been acclaimed throughout the state for his musical ability, will sing several songs.

Comedy will be furnished chiefly by the master of ceremonies, J. Gilbert Baird. Assisting him will be Bing Chamberlain, known for his skits in amateur productions. There will be numbers by the Texas Play Boys, whistling by Joe Atton, piano selections by Marilyn Joyce Teeters, 11-year-old girl who has been on stage and radio programs; specialty acts by Richard Zimmerman; numbers by the Accordion-ettes from the Smart studio; comedy act by Eugene Gump; tap dancing by Vivian Walters of the Speas studio, and numbers by the Westinghouse Glee club and chorus.

On the screen will be "Girl in the News," starring Margaret Lockwood and Barry Barnes.

Tickets may be purchased at any of the local theaters until 6 p. m., after which they will be available only at the Madison box office.

DEATH CLAIMS R. W. HUNT, 66

Mansfield Man Succumbs After Illness of Three Months.

A three-month illness ended yesterday evening in the death of Robert W. Hunt, 66, of near Mansfield. A resident of this vicinity most of his life, Mr. Hunt was born Jan. 7, 1875, on the farm where he died. He was a member of the First Lutheran church.

Survivors are his widow, Hattie; one son, Richard; and two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Crider and Rose Hunt, all residents of this vicinity.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

TO KILL OR NOT TO KILL QUAIL THAT'S BIG QUESTION IN OHIO

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Bob White quail and its welfare apparently remain the most popular issue in the Ohio legislature.

More than 400 persons crowded into the house chamber and galleries last night to applaud and boo debate on a bill to permit shooting of the quail, which has been on the songbird list for 25 years.

In contrast, a meager half-dozen spectators listened to a house judiciary committee discussion about the welfare of men sentenced to life imprisonment for first degree murder.

The judiciary committee, incidentally, recommended for passage of a bill making it possible for first degree "lifer" to obtain a parole after they have served 15 years.

The quail bill, to be debated further in the conservation committee next Wednesday night, would authorize the conservation division to begin propagation of the bird immediately and would permit the shooting of them in 33 southern and southeastern counties after Nov. 15, 1943, if the division found the supply adequate.

Proponents of the measure brought in authorities to testify that a program of propagation, despite shooting, would increase the quail population.

The committee also was told that the quail was being shot extensively in southern Ohio because hunters there had no "wing shooting" such as the pheasant provides in northern Ohio.

The committee was given a petition, purportedly signed by 80,000 persons—including 37,895 farmers—asking for quail shooting.

The opponents, however, insisted that an open season would lead to extinction of the Bob White.

DIES AT AGE 68

William T. Cutter, Caretaker at Postoffice, Succumbs.

William Thomas Cutter, 68, of 81½ West Fourth street, caretaker at the Mansfield postoffice, died yesterday at the Mansfield General hospital following a short illness.

A resident of Mansfied for the past 14 years, Mr. Cutter was born in London, England. He came to this country 35 years ago and before coming to Mansfield he had lived in Youngstown and DuBois, Pa.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church; Mansfield Lodge No. 35 F. & A. M. and Baku Grotto.

Survivors are his widow, Esther Pearson Cutter; one son, William R., of Youngstown; one granddaughter, Mrs. Dorothy Rinehart, of Columbus; one great grandchild; and one brother, James Cutter, of Cleveland.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. Edwin Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The body will then be taken to Youngstown where services and burial will be held Saturday afternoon.

FREE ON BOND

Disbarred Woman Attorney Waits Court Appearance.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, disbarred Columbus attorney, was free today under $1,000 bond pending arraignment on an embezzlement charge returned against her by the Franklin county grand jury.

The indictment charged Mrs. Dickinson had embezzled $10,800 from the estate of Mrs. Annie Burgy, for which she acted as guardian.

Laff-a-Day

"He want's me to elope. Shall I ask him if he can get a boy friend?"

The Mansfield postoffice has a new electric clock. The gift came from Henry Cunning, Cook road, a regular city carrier for the past 14 years. Cunning who is now 32, began as a carrier when he was 18. He has been called by the selective service board for a year's training, and he left the clock as a farewell gift. The postoffice now has five clocks, but the electric one is the only accurate one according to postoffice officials.

Workers in the selective service Board 3 office were puzzled today over the popularity of a farm hand who has been called for military service. Although the youth told the board he wants to go to camp and has no intention of appealing, two or three farmers requested the board to defer him because his services are essential on their farms this spring and summer. The board agreed that a number of county farmers are going to be short of help this season, but it couldn't see how anything can be done to help them.

* * *

Mansfielders are saved some $40,000 worth of stamp licking every three months by a little device known as the postage meter. Rights to the use of a machine are purchased from the postoffice by companies with large mailing lists. In use in the city are 17 of the machines which mark an envelope with a stamp, including the amount of postage paid, and a post mark with the date and the machine number. The machines, obviate the necessity of handling great numbers of stamps not only for the postoffice but by the companies who employ the device.

Mahsfield officials receiving invitations to attend the annual banquet of the Mansfield Park associations to be held next Monday may be shocked at their first glance at them. Adorning one of the corners of the invitation will be a leering skull and cross-bones, clipped from poison labels, warning them not to fail in attendance. Roy Vaughn, president of the association, is responsible for the innovation.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Virgil Cunning, 29, Succumbs After Short Illness.

Virgil Elsworth Cunning, 29, son of Mrs. Emma Guthrie, Cook road, died at General hospital this morning following a short illness.

He was born in Madison township, June 8, 1911. He spent his entire life in this vicinity where he attended Madison township public schools.

Survivors are his mother and four brothers, Louis Walter, Henry E., and Eldon E., all of Mansfield, and John J. Cunning of Akron.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery, Perrysville.

D. D. GREEN, 53, DIES AT GALION

Shoe Store Operator Succumbs After Long Illness.

GALION—A life-long resident of Galion, Dahl D. Green, 53, died at his home this morning following a lingering illness. He was born in Galion, Dec. 22, 1875.

Mr. Green, a member of the Presbyterian church, had been associated with Paul Schuh, in operation of the Galion Shoe store for 24 years, preceding his retirement from the business some years ago. He was preceded in death by his wife, Bessie Gates Green.

Survivors are two children, Gates C. Green, of Mansfield; Mrs. Helen Rupp of Fort Wayne, Ind.; six grandchildren, and two brothers, Howard M. and James Green, both of Galion.

The body was removed to the Whittridge mortuary where services will be held Saturday. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

PRESENTS PLAY

Youth Co-Operative To Give Program at Ontario Friday.

The Richland County Youth co-operative will present a play, "Aunt Minnie from Minnesota," Friday night in the Ontario high school auditorium and will sponsor a dance Monday night in Trades Council hall, North Park street.

Members of the county youth group will participate in the play which will begin at 8 p. m.

The Huron County orchestra will play for round and square dancing Monday night.

FEDERAL MEN PROBE STORY OF SERVITUDE

Youth Tells of Flight From Isle Where Mother and Children Were Held.

(By Associated Press)

POPLARVILLE, Miss.—A Mississippi sharecropper and his wife were held incommunicado in jail here today as state and federal officers investigated the strange story of a 33-year-old mother that she and her four children were kept in virtual servitude for more than a year on an island.

The case came to light last night with the filing of kidnap charges against Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Walker, middle-aged sharecroppers of Pearl River county, Mississippi, after officers had rescued Mrs. Cora Lee Davis and three of her four children from Cow island near the Mississippi state line.

Mrs. Davis, officers said, was in Columbia, Miss., about 25 miles northwest of here, recovering from the birth of her fifth child in a Memphis hospital.

The officers were reticent regarding the alleged servitude to which the Davis family was subjected.

The story as reconstructed by Sheriff O. J. Foxworth of Marion county, Miss., and his deputy, Henry Counts, from statements of Mrs. Davis and her 16-year-old son, Adolph, follows:

Shortly after her husband, a WPA worker, died in July, 1939, Mrs. Davis and her children were forced to move into the nearby Walker home under threat of death.

After moving to Simpson county, the Walkers were ordered into court on charges of abusing the Davis children, but the entire group fled to Cow island.

For more than a year, the Davises were kept on the island in virtual slavery, the officers charged, until Adolph was able to make his escape when Walker took his mother to a Memphis hospital several weeks ago.

The youth made his way to Baton Rouge, La., where he told officers of his family's plight.

A group of officers from Tennessee and Missippi went to Cow island Tuesday.

Army Flier Killed By Propellor as Bride-to-Be Shops

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — While his bride-to-be shopped for a trousseau in Lima, an army training plane's propellor ended the life of Lieut. Charles D. Bird of Bellefontaine, yesterday.

Lieutenant Bird died in a Maxwell field hospital after a parachute jump from the plane in which he was instructing Lieut. Vincent Arthur Black of Altoona, Pa., a student aviator, who escaped serious injury.

Both legs were severed in the leap, apparently by the plane's propellor.

The engagement of Miss Dorothy Lynch to Bird was announced last Tuesday. The couple planned to marry next month. Bird was a graduate of Ohio State university and Bellefontaine high school.

Superstitions Called Refuge From Worries

COLUMBIA, Mo. — (U.P.) — Men are superstitious because of uncertainties in their lives, in the opinion of Dr. Brewton Berry, of the sociology department of the University of Missouri.

In a book which Dr. Berry has just published entitled "You and Your Superstitions," he outlines this theory and says that the persons most likely to be superstitious are those who lead the most uncertain lives.

Thus it is, Dr. Berry says, that athletes, soldiers and persons whose occupations depend largely on the element of chance are generally more superstitious than others.

When confronted by an uncertain future human beings seek various methods of protection, he says. For instance, many persons adopt fatalism, a philosophy which holds that all events are determined by fate, as a protection against the unpredictable.

"Superstition is another shell into which man crawls when faced with uncertainty," Dr. Berry says.

Superstitions, he believes, fall into two classes. First there are those superstitions, such as palmistry and astrology, which attempt to penetrate the uncertainty of the future.

Secondly, there are superstitions such as charms, rabbits' feet and four leaf clovers.

Doctor's Formula Helps Liver Bile Flow Freely

Right Way To Relieve Constipation and Feel "Tip-Top" In Morning

If liver bile doesn't flow freely every day into your intestines—constipation with its headaches and that "half-alive" feeling often results. So step up that liver bile and see how much better you should feel! Just try Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, used so successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for his patients with constipation and sluggish bile.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only stimulate bile flow to help digest fatty foods but ALSO help elimination. Get a box TODAY! 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

EXAMS SET

Civil Service Announces Open Positions of Varied Types.

Civil service examinations were announced today by George H. Hoover, secretary of the board of examiners at the postoffice for the following positions: expiditer, marine propelling and outfitting equipment; head soil scientist, bureau of plant industry; junior engineering draftsman and bookbinders, hand and machine.

At the same time the United States Maritime commission announced examinations for deck and engineer cadets in the Merchant Marine.

Copies of the announcement may be obtained from the Supervisor of Cadet Training, U. S. Maritime Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications must be filed not later than May, 10.

GEORGIA GEOLOGIST SAYS HUGE DEPOSIT RICH IN MAGNESIUM

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP)—A "mountain of magnesium-bearing rock," capable of yielding an estimated 12,000,000 pounds of metallic magnesium annually for the next half-century, shortly may be put into commercial production near here.

The huge deposit, described by Georgia State Geologist Garland Peyton as "almost 100 per cent pure magnesium silicate," was discovered early in January in an isolated wooded area after preliminary ore finds by a WPA mineral survey crew.

Peyton classed the deposit, sprawling over 68 acres, as one of the major discoveries of the nation and said it would boost by 30 per cent domestic production of a metal highly important to defense production.

The geologist said Page B. Blakemore, sr., of College Park, Ga., a mining engineer and metallurgist, had undertaken development of the deposit and was expected to be ready for commercial production "in a very short time." Blakemore, absent on business, was unavailable for comment.

Peyton explained that the magnesium silicate, when treated with acid, may be processed as compounds capable of ultimate reduction to metallic magnesium. Laboratory experiments by Blakemore and an assistant, the geologist continued, indicated that an electrolytic process would yield magnesium at a commercial cost substantially below that prevailing elsewhere.

The Georgia ore also contains from one to five per cent chrome iron compound, recoverable as a by-product for use in manufacturing steel.

X-RAY USED

BOSTON — (U.P.) — Even X-rays are doing their part in the nation's defense preparation, according to Arthur E. Auclair.

The Boston scientist told the Bay State Society of X-ray Technicians that all major arsenals, shipbuilding plants, and aircraft factories are using a gamma ray radiograph process to discover defects in war materials.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!
Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.
The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and restless.
Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.
Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anemia. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. 49c.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Took a trip out to the reformatory the other afternoon and since no one recognized me as being wanted for something or other, (I'm told I get away with murder in this column) I think I'll go back again.

In fact I know darn well I'll be going back again some of these Saturday afternoons to see one of the most interesting boxing tournaments in the state of Ohio.

Coach George Allerding, O. S. R. recreation director, has 120 boys signed up for the slug fest which will last through seven Saturday afternoons of jousting. It's too bad the public can't get in on it.

* * *

The tourney will be operated on the same plan as the Cleveland Golden Gloves, and winners will be awarded gold medals giving the weight and date of their championships.

Only the name of the tournament will be omitted, so that the champs in future years need not be embarrassed in showing their trophies.

I watched some of the lads work out, and was impressed by the complete lack of clinching. The boys really swapped punches and never was there any indication of bitterness developing from a hard sock on the snoot.

* * *

"You'll find better sportsmanship in this tournament than in any other boxing event," promised Coach Allerding.

As far as I know, the reformatory has the only new-type semi-circular bank boards for basketball in this area.

"The boys like the new bank boards since they got used to 'em," says Allerding, "and I believe they help develop shooting accuracy. They create a tendency to shoot for the hoop instead of the boards."

Now if the O. S. R. had a gym to go with this bucket-ball innovation, all would be fine. The old dining hall seems to be an ideal layout for a gym, and would give the institution a year-round recreational program on a par with present summer activities.

* * *

For me the trip through O. S. R. was just one fanning bee after another. There was Superintendent Art Glattke chinning about the old days at Wittenberg and the number of Wittenbergers making a success of the coaching business.

There was Allerding recalling his coaching days at Rittman and his playing days at Ashland college. And there was Ralph Stowell talking old Newark, Mt. Vernon and Coshocton football games.

And there I was chiming in.

* * *

But I found out one thing: buses run to the reformatory only once an hour. The company probably feels that there's no one at that end of the line who's going any place in a hurry.

Ashland To Meet Buckeyes

Baseball Schedule Has Game at Ohio State.

ASHLAND—Ashland college's veteran baseball club has started indoor workouts under the direction of Coach George Donges. When weather permits the squad to move outdoors, the Eagles will be able to move along much faster. The pitchers have been limbering up for some time and should be in shape for the opening game on April 23.

* * *

Coach Donges will have eight members of last year's crack team back. Those same boys led the Eagles to one of their best seasons in years and kept the Ashlanders in the running for one of the finest records in the Ohio conference.

The eight veterans are Jim Ross, crack third-sacker from Cleveland; Jim Richcreek, pitcher, from Nappanee, Ind.; Matt Resick, catcher, who hails from South Fork, Pa.; Virge Scobey, first baseman, Bud Plank, shortstop, and Bob Sprague, outfielder, all from Ashland, Captain Chuck Swain, second baseman, from Lucas and Burton Zimmerman, outfielder from Homerville. All except Zimmerman are seniors.

The Eagles have one of their toughest schedules in many years. Probably their biggest test of the 12 game sked will come when they meet Ohio State at Columbus on May 26.

The schedule:
April 23 at Bowling Green;
April 26, Kenyon,
May 3 at Kenyon,
May 5 at Heidelberg;
May 12 at Otterbein,
May 17, Bowling Green,
May 21 at Oberlin,
May 24, Heidelberg,
May 26 at Ohio State;
May 29, Otterbein;
June 2, Wooster;
June 4 at Wooster.

BOWLING SCORES

City A league keglers were hotter than somewhat last night as they splashed the maples for eight series well over the 600 mark.

Sonny Meder led the parade with 190-255-226—671 and Carl Phillipon was a good second with 230-191-243—664.

Orlie Grable chalked up high game of 279, starting out with a spare followed by nine strikes and a 9-pin finale. His other games were 178-185 for a 642 total.

Bob Bieri turned in some consistent kegling for 226-212-211—649, and Dale Cleckner had 212-229-202—643.

And the 600's were not yet over. Johnny Leppo chalked 202-202-224—628, Brig Young 194-191-226—611, and Joe Harrod 192-218-199—609.

BARONS LOSE JERWA FOR TITLE SERIES

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Joe Jerwa, high-scoring defenseman of the Cleveland Barons, today was definitely out of the American league hockey championship playoffs with the winner of the Pittsburgh-Hershey series, it was announced by Coach Bill Cook.

Jerwa, one of the heroes of the Barons' victory which decided their playoff series with Providence the other night, broke a bone in his right hand while scoring the winning goal.

Indians Still Keep Hurlers

Other Departments Pared To Season's Quota.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—The pennant-conscious Cleveland Indians, hoping that superior pitching will offset inferior batting, will start their homeward journey tomorrow with 16 hurlers in the squad of 30.

* * *

The remainder of the squad has been whittled down to regulation size and with the possible exception of one outfielder, the five players yet to go will be pitchers. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh has until May 15 to make the final cut to 25.

Optioning of 20-year-old Jim Hegan to Oklahoma City left the club with two catchers, Rollie Hemsley and Gene Desautels. Both are 33.

The infield has been pared to the bone with only Hal Trosky, Ray Mack, Lou Boudreau, Ken Keltner, Russ Peters and Oscar Grimes, left.

Gerry Walker, Roy Weatherly, Jeff Heath, Beau Bell, Clarence Campbell and Murray Howell comprise the outer defense. If Peckinpaugh knocks off a man here, it probably will be Campbell or Howell.

Among the hurlers Bob Feller, Mel Harder, Al Milnar, Jim Bagby, Al Smith, Joe Heving and Clint Brown are fixtures. Harry Eisenstat is pretty sure to stick. After that it's a guess.

The candidates for the other two or three jobs are Dewey Adkins, Nate Andrews, Cal Dorsett, Millard Howell, Ken Jungels, Joe Krakauskas, Mike Naymick and Bill Zuber.

The Indians wound up their exhibition games here yesterday with a 3 to 2 victory over Detroit. The next contest is scheduled in Atlanta Saturday against the Southern Association team.

* * *

Feller allowed two hits and one run in three innings, Harder did likewise and Dorsett shut out the Bengals with one hit the other three innings.

Admission Free To Gym Show

Admission will be free to Mansfield high school's annual gymnasium exhibition tomorrow night, Director Harry Mehock announced today, and the gym is expected to be packed with friends and relatives of the more than 400 boys and girls who will appear on the program.

Nine events, including everything from folk dances to tumbling, are on the program which opens at 8 o'clock.

* * *

Mehock, Coaches Paul Snyder and Vern Hoffman, and girls' physical education instructor Miss Wilma Snider will have charge of the various events.

ABE SIMON NAMED TO POLICE POST

LONG BEACH, N. Y.—(INS)—Abe Simon, heavyweight contender, who served as a policeman in the summers of 1937, 1938 and 1939 in this Long Island community, today was appointed deputy police commissioner of Long Beach by Mayor Theodore Ornstein.

Simon, who went 13 rounds with Joe Louis last Friday night in Detroit, will get another chance at the crown when he meets the Brown Bomber in Madison Square Garden on May 9.

Tunney Picks Fighters to Train Army

GENE TUNNEY AND HIS SELECTIONS

Named head of the U. S. navy's health-training program, Lieut. Commander Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion, has enlisted the aid of several well-known fighters to serve as instructors at various naval stations. Tunney is shown with eight he selected, left to right, Frank Poreda of New Jersey, Jimmy Webb of New York, Patsy Perroni of Canton, O.; Tommy Tucker of New York, Georgie Abrams of Washington, Cal Cagni of New Jersey, Steve Belloise of New York and Al Nettlow of Detroit, all ranking boxers.

Olson Defends Colleges Competing In Tournament

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (U.P.) — Eastern Ivy league schools, the Big Ten conference members and other independents which frown on post-season football, are willing participants in the National Collegiate Athletic association basketball playoffs because they are strictly in the hands of the colleges, Harold Olsen, executive secretary of the N. C. A. A. said today.

Olsen denied that there was any inconsistency in the case of Wisconsin of the Big Ten and Dartmouth of the Eastern Ivy clique, in extending their basketball seasons for the N. C. A. A. playoffs when post-season football was absolutely taboo.

"The basketball setup is entirely different," Olsen said, "Dartmouth never before had let its athletics teams play in any post-season affairs. However, the athletic board realized that the N. C. A. A. playoffs were a National collegiate venture, absolutely in control of the colleges.

"The Dartmouth players, coach and the students themselves had a fine experience in playing in the eastern playoffs at Madison last week-end. Even in losing, I feel sure that through its fine showing it raised the prestige of Ivy league basketball."

Olsen said that through the system of regional playoffs and eliminations, the N. C. A. A. probably had obtained the eight strongest and most representative teams available, because all eligible schools were willing to compete. Teams qualified strictly on merit and participation was not on an invitational basis.

The Wisconsin quintet, which plays Washington State for the N. C. A. A. title Saturday night, likewise got a faculty go ahead to play in post-season basketball from the same group which has voted against Big Ten participation in football bowl games.

* * *

Spokesmen for the school last week at Madison said that the faculty had turned down bids to play in privately promoted national basketball tournaments and that it was only because of collegiate sponsorship that the team was playing in the N. C. A. A. meet.

Says Today's Football Best

Yost Declares Present Brand Most Interesting.

CHICAGO —(AP)— The good old days in college football? Fielding H. Yost says they were all right, but take it from him, the game as played today is "the best we've ever had, the most interesting for the spectators and the kind the boys who play it enjoy most."

Michigan's grand old man of the gridiron sports is well qualified to express an opinion on the subject. On April 30 he will be 70 years old and next June 30, at the end of the academic year, he'll retire as Michigan athletic director, a post he has held two decades.

And as Michigan's football coach for a quarter-century, he produced some of the greatest individual stars and teams in collegiate football history.

* * *

"Outside of the forward pass," Yost said, "football hasn't changed much over the years. Years ago we had a spinned play at Michigan. Today every team has about 90 of them, but there isn't much difference in the fundamentals. Today there are a lot more good coaches and a lot more good players, but when you analyze it, all winning teams still have to be able to block, tackle, pass and kick."

CHICAGO GLOVERS DEFEAT NEW YORKERS

CHICAGO —(INS)—For the eighth time in the 14-year history of the event, Chicago today held the intercity Golden Gloves amateur boxing championship after defeating the New York team, 10 bouts to six, before a crowd of 19,307 in the Chicago stadium last night.

New York has won the title three times, and the other three tournaments ended in ties.

Nelson Appears Tourney Favorite

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—(U.P.)—Byron Nelson, the former national open champion, who can thread a needle with his iron shots, was the man to beat today as a field of 100 teed off for the third annual Land of the Sky open golf tournament.

* * *

Fresh from his victory in the Greensboro open, Nelson dominated the field that included most of the top pros and the national amateur champion, Dick Chapman. The distance is 72 holes—18 holes a day for four days—over the rolling fairways of the Biltmore Forest Country club. Par is 35-36—71, but the greens are slick and tricky and the boys are looking for trouble when the pressure gets heavy.

* * *

Although Nelson is the top-heavy favorite, everybody in competition knows that golf and dice are the two most uncertain games and there will be plenty of competition. The field includes Sam Snead, Benny Hogan, leading money winner on the winter circuit; Lawson Little, national open champion; Ralph Guldahl, former open titleholder; Clayton Heafner, who makes his home a few miles from here; Vic Ghezzi, Dick Metz, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson, the longest driver in the game; Paul Runyan, the little wizard with the wood clubs; Jug McSpaden, Jimmy Hines, Jim Ferrier, open and amateur champion of Australia; Martine Pose, Argentine professional; Leonard Dodson and Horton Smith, one of the best putters who ever played the game.

Fight Results

(By Associated Press)

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—James J. Braddock, 210, former heavyweight champion, and Clarence (Red) Burman, 192, New York, drew (5).

AKRON, O. — Teddy Yarosz, 174, Pittsburgh former middleweight champion, outpointed Bobby Berry, 168, Cleveland (10).

ST. LOUIS QUINTET TAKES A. B. C. ALLEYS

ST. PAUL—(INS)—One of the highlights of the 55-day American Bowling Congress will be reached tonight when the Herman Undertakers of St. Louis, national match game champions, assault the alleys in pursuit of honors in the five-man division.

Low scores prevailed again yesterday as "booster" teams—those with averages of 850 and under—continued to hold the alleys. There were no changes among the leaders.

Big Lombardi's Ready to Play

Red Catcher Declares Ankle's Okay Now.

MIAMI, Fla.—(U.P.)—Ernie Lombardi, lumbering catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, said today his injured ankle "feels okay and I'm ready to do some catching as soon as McKechnie gives me the nod."

Manager Bill McKechnie plans to give Lombardi the go-ahead sign when the Reds meet the Boston Red Sox in Havana over the week-end if the weather is suitable. Lombardi's ankle has been the No. 1 concern of Red fans since he received the injury in the world series last fall.

In a battle of home runs yesterday, the New York Giants edged Cincinnati, 9 to 8. The Giants hit four times for the circuit while Bill Baker, Bill Werber, Frank McCormick, Lonnie Frey and Jimmy Gleeson connected for the Reds. Both teams scored all of their runs in the first four innings.

Jim Turner worked the first five innings and was touched for 11 hits—the Giant total for the game. Bucky Walters and Bob Logan finished for the Reds with Walters not permitting a ball to be hit out of the infield in the two frames he worked.

The Reds and the Giants hook up in their final spring game today. Ancient Carl Hubbell is slated to open for New York with Whitey Moore due to start for the Reds.

Benefit Bucket Program Booked

A hoop fest for the benefit of Madison high school's athletic fund is booked at the school gym Friday night with City A league teams furnishing most of the program.

* * *

In the opening game at 7:30 Yuncker Sports will meet the league champion Mansfield Athletic Supplies, and in the second tilt Blue Goose Sohloans will tangle with Butler Ex-Highs.

Pete Hergatt, manager of the Athletics, lined up the cage card.

BUCKS BEAT RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Va. —(U.P.)— Ohio State's baseball team will be after its fourth straight win today as it faces the University of Richmond in the last of a two-game series. Ohio State defeated Richmond, southern conference champion, 5 to 1, yesterday.

Rookies Aided By Draft

Major Clubs Examine Team Replacements.

NEW YORK—(INS)—It becomes evident, as the major league clubs start breaking camp, today, that rookies are going to get a bigger play than they have in many years.

Usually, by this time the clubs have sent most of their high-priced phenoms who failed to make the grade back to the bushes. But the draft has changed all that this year, and the youngsters are receiving more extended trials.

Managers can't count on their unmarried younger stars as fixtures for the whole season and so more attention is being paid to the new men. Especially if they are blessed with a wife and several children.

However, several of the clubs already have turned thumbs down on some of the costlier bric-a-brac while approving other less ballyhooed youngsters.

The Reds have farmed out Kermit Lewis, last year's eastern league batting champion. The Pirates have optioned Johnny Gee, whose 6 feet 9 inches, make him the tallest man in baseball, to Portland. The Pirates hated to part with this left hander because they paid $35,000 for him, the highest price paid for an International league southpaw since Lefty Grove moved up from Baltimore to Philadelphia 16 years ago.

On the other hand, the Pirates are keeping their kid shortstop, Alf Anderson, despite the fact that in Arky Vaughn the club has one of the greatest shortstops in the game.

On the other hand again, Chuck Aleno, the No. 1 third baseman of the southern league last season, failed to sell himself to Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds.

George Archie, Seattle first baseman, was tabbed the most valuable man in the Pacific Coast last year, but the Senators already have given up on him.

Orval Grove, who came up with little ballyhoo from Oklahoma City gives every indication of being a star pitcher for the White Sox.

And the Yanks think they have the prize rookie of the year in Phil Rizzuto, the little shortstop who has made good despite the greatest load of advance ballyhoo ever packed on the shoulders of a youngster.

* * *

You simply can't tell about rookies from their minor league showings. Some of them have cost $100,000 and flopped. And then there was a fellow named Ty Cobb who cost the Tigers $750.

NORMAN, Okla. —(U.P.)— The University of Oklahoma polo team defeated Ohio State university here yesterday, 10 to 4. The match was played in a cold rain.

Tris Picks Tribesmen Once More

Sees New Indian Spirit Under Peckinpaugh.

By CHARLES P. McMAHON

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Tristram Speaker, who may be remembered as somewhat of a ball player a number of years ago, said today that his old club, the Cleveland Indians—imbued with a new spirit of harmony—should win the American league pennant this year.

The Gray Eagle, a little more grizzled and a trifle heavier than when he was the "greatest centerfielder of his day" with the Indians, confided that Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's handling of the ball players probably would be a big factor in helping win the pennant.

"I can't see how they can miss," Speaker said. "The boys are satisfied and they're playing for a fine and likeable fellow in Rajh Peckinpaugh.

"Unquestionably there has been a big change of spirit on the team. Everybody seems to be happy now. The boys like him and they're sure to play the best ball they can for him."

Speaker picked the Indians to win the pennant last year also and admitted that they should not have lost. He would not comment on the unpleasantness surrounding deposed Manager Oscar Vitt. It's "all dead fish now," he said.

What may cost the Indians the pennant again this year, Spoke said, is their failure to hit in the pinches.

"If the team hits to normal expectations, they can do it," he said. "They don't need any .340 or .350 hitters. Merely steady club hitting will do the trick."

* * *

"Jeff Heath may come back with the kind of hitting he did in his first year in the majors and that's all they'll need. Gerry Walker is sure to add plenty of punch in the line-up and normal years for Hal Trosky, Ken Keltner and Roy Weatherly will cinch it."

* * *

Speaker was unconcerned over the losses Bob Feller has suffered so far in the spring games.

"There's nothing alarming about that. Now, why start worrying about Bobby? He's the least of the Indian worries. He's the greatest pitcher in the game today.

"He's just not warming up as fast as he used to when he was a youngster of 18 or 19. After all he's 21 now. Perhaps he's just exercising a bit too much before the games and it might be tiring him."

Speaker, manager of the Indians' only pennant-winning team in 1920, added his bit concerning New York Yankees Manager Joe McCarthy's shift of Joe Gordon from second to first base.

"Joe's the manager—a great manager—and he knows what he's doing. If he believes Gordon will fit in at first then that's the place for him with that new second base combination of McCarthy's. Gordon's a natural ball player and can play anywhere."

* * *

The Yankees? — They'll be "tough."

YAROSZ RALLIES TO BEAT BOBBY BERRY

AKRON — (INS)—Teddy Yarosz, former world middleweight champion from Monoca, Pa., today held a 10-round decision over Bobby Berry of Cleveland after getting away to a bad start.

Berry, former Golden Gloves king, put Yarosz on the floor in the second round with a series of hard rights.

Eddie Miller Credits Rise On Diamond to "Blind Luck"

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
(AP Feature Service)
EDDIE MILLER

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Blind luck, molder of many careers, has sent baseball a gabby little guy who is storming along towards being one of the great shortstops of all time.

Eddie Miller is the name.

Tiny, but bull-shouldered Eddie currently performs in a most amazing manner for the Boston Bees. Only by a quirk of fate he isn't in the New York Yankee infield. But that's another story—a painful story to the Yanks.

Spectacular afield, the five-foot, nine-inch 165-pounder is also one of the most valued Bee hitters. Home runs, triples and doubles bounce off his big bat.

The story of Eddie Miller starts some 10 years ago. Out in the back of his house near the Pittsburgh ball park—"so close I could just roll out of bed into left field"—a square-jawed, handsome little fellow banged a ball against the side of the house. He dived to his left and right to catch the rebounds.

Out in a vacant lot he learned how to run the bases. Eddie tried hook and belly slides into his "bases"—large stones laid in the grass. Through high school Eddie played baseball and finally a Pittsburgh scout saw him.

Off To Springfield.

He was sent down to Springfield, Ohio, with a couple of kid pitchers for a shot at Class C ball. The manager looked over his trio and decided to let them hang around a couple of days and then ship them home.

On the second day the locals were playing a spring exhibition game. Eddie and his two doomed pitchers were in a pepper game far out on the left field baseline when the game wore into the ninth inning.

The manager waved Eddie in to pinch hit. Eddie picked out the biggest bat he could find and walked to the plate. The first two pitchers were streamers on the outside corner.

"I missed 'em both a mile," Eddie confesses. "I was ready to take my cut at the third, miss it and pack up for the trip home. The third pitch came ripping down the middle and I swung with everything I had. I connected. The ball cleared the center field fence for a home run.

"I stayed with Springfield that season. But do you know something? I never hit another home run down there!"

Eddie's blind luck—and he says it was genuinely blind for he "might" have had his eyes closed on that circuit blow—started his bright career

In 1935 he was sent to Toronto, but finished the year in the Piedmont league. He stuck it out with Toronto in '36 and became a Cincinnati chattel in 1938, playing at Newark, Yankee farm, for Willard Hershberger

The Yanks sent Eddie down to Kansas City in '38. He was first rounding into true form there, but the Yanks sold him to the Boston Bees.

Starts In '39.

So Eddie started his big league career in '39 with Boston. He was going great guns until one day he charged out into center field for a high fly, collided with Al Simmons and broke his leg. For months he nursed the leg along—was able to start the '40 season with the Bees.

Last season Eddie Miller was great, even with his feeble leg. He hit .276, but he drove in 79 runs and lashed out 13 home runs.

In the first spring game with the St. Louis Browns he tapped three Brownie hurlers for a home run, two doubles and single.

"Casey Stengel taught me a lot about this game," Eddie muses. "He taught me to hold the bat on the end and take a cut. He taught me baseball was just a game instead of work. He has made fielding 100 ground balls easy, whereas I used to labor at stabbing 25 of them."

To Eddie Miller, whom Casey Stengel describes "as just about the best shortstop in either league," his biggest wallop out of baseball came last season.

"We were playing the Giants in the Polo Grounds. Carl Hubbell was pitching. I got hold of a sinker and sent it out for two bases to score Chet Ross and win that game, 2-1.

"Why was it so important to me?

"When I was a kid in high school we had a professor who sneaked in a little baseball conversation during our classwork. He would tell us for hours about Hubbell's great screwball.

"I would sit there and dream about some day batting against the great Hubbell.

"Well—I did!"

Hartnett Fills Bill As Rookie

Terry Says He'll Give New Catcher Trial.

MIAMI—(INS)—The New York Giants, who have found everything but themselves this spring, uncovered a fine, new "rookie" catcher here today. His name is Charles Leo Hartnett, most people call him "Gabby," and all he lacks to blossom out as a major league star is a trifle more experience. For Hartnett has only caught a total of 1,756 major league games and all he needs now is another year of seasoning.

* * *

The most practical place for the "kid" to achieve this vital experience would be on the Giants' Jersey City farm, but Manager Bill Terry, a shrewd observer of talent, believes that Hartnett is ready for the big leagues this season.

"We'll keep him around, anyway, and give him a thorough trial," said Terry, cleverly concealing his enthusiasm over his latest "find," which almost rivals his historic discovery of that other current Giant "rookie" sensation, Harry (The Horse) Danning.

Seriously, Hartnett is the wonder of the Florida spring training grind. Everyone wonders what keeps him going. Fat and forty and 19 years a major league star, good-natured old Gabby still stoops to conquer. This fugitive from a wax museum squatted behind the plate for nine full innings yesterday as the Giants squeezed out a 9-to-8 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. Despite the fact his abused old bones and muscles groaned and moaned and rattled in agonizing protest, Ol' Man Mose didn't have to be lifted to his weary feet with the derrick which Terry always has parked nearby for just such an emergency.

Hartnett insists he will catch 50 games for the Giants in 1941. If he succeeds in this noble effort, he will be an inspiration to the old and decrepit all over the world. The next thing you know, Sam Riddle will be announcing a comeback for Man o' War. Jim Jeffries will don the gloves again and challenge Joe Louis.

DERRINGER HURT

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds is beginning to worry about Paul Derringer, his pitching ace who was struck in the groin by a batted ball last week. Derringer still is under a physician's care at his home in Sarasota. He plans to rejoin the team in Birmingham late next week.

COMEBACK FAILS

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Clay Bryant, victim of a sore arm for the last two seasons, still doesn't look like he will help the Chicago Cubs much this year. He pitched three innings against Los Angeles yesterday, gave up seven runs and was charged with the Bruins' defeat.

REACHES SEMI-FINALS

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP)—Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., medalist in the 39th annual North and South women's golf tournament, advanced to today's semi-finals by eliminating Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville, O., 3 and 2.

THEATERS

Soldier of Fortune.

Thrill-ladened with adventure, hate, love and disaster, "Escape to Glory," currently showing at the Ohio has Pat O'Brien in one of his finest roles. As a soldier of fortune, and as a secretary who prefers sables, O'Brien and his co-star, Constance Bennett, discover to their amazement that warmth can come from the heart. John Halliday is cast as a crusading district attorney fleeing from gangland with his gun-man nemesis in the person of Alan Baxter Melville Cooper plays a man a hero who dies in a blaze of glory after living in fear all his life.

Unusual Photography.

Strictly a comedy, in which use of astounding photographic effects provide hilarity ranging from slapstick to sophisticated situations is "The Invisible Woman," continuing at the Madison with Virginia Bruce in the title role. As a dress model wanting a new outlook on life the star offers herself as a subject for human invisibility experiments by an eccentric scientist played by John Barrymore. In doing so, she wins a romantic playboy, portrayed by John Howard, and rounds up Oscar Homolka, a fugitive gangster hiding out in Mexico "Golden Hoofs," with Jane Withers and Charles "Buddy" Rogers, is the second picture.

Diamond Drama.

An exciting film of adventure in a South African diamond mine makes its debut at the Ritz Friday when George Brent's tarring vehicle "South of Suez" opens. As a mine foreman who can take ruthless greed and jungle heat in his stride Brent is supported by Brenda Marshall in the role of the mine owner's daughter. Lee Patrick and James Stephenson are in the cast The singing cowboy Roy Rogers is featured in the second film "The Border Legion," in which he enacts a young physician who has fled to new territory after being unjustly convicted of a crime.

In New Role.

Victor Jory, long a player of sinister movie roles, gets a chance to demonstrate his capabilities on the side of justice in "Girl From Havana," opening today at the Park With Gordon Jones and Dennis O'Keefe he forms the triumvirate of three buddies who stand by each other in all kinds of circumstances. Colorfully set, the production features Claire Carleton in the title role whose singing fills the picture with music Steffi Duna is another in the cast. "Colorado," the co-feature has Roy Rogers, singing cowboy, George "Gabby" Hayes and Pauline Moore in the cast.

Zany Role.

Aimed squarely at the comedy bull's-eye, Joe Penner's fun-film "Millionaire Playboy," opening Friday at the Majestic presents the late radio, stage and screen comedian in another of his popular roles Linda Hayes is the heroine and the cast includes Granville Bates, Fritz Feld and a dozen streamlined beauties. Penner is under the hiccough jinx in the current film and in order to escape it takes himself to a resort hotel where situations arise which only make the hiccoughs worse. Efforts of Richard Arlen and Andy Devine to block sabotage plans of foreign agents afford the story basis for "Lucky Devils," the second film.

START SPRING DRILLS

TIFFIN—(AP)—The opening of spring football practice at Heidelberg college brought out 43 candidates with 13 of the 17 lettermen reporting. Missing were Fenton Wolfe of Upper Sandusky, Jim Marinis of Tiffin and Conrad Prasher of Awron, all on the injured list, and John H Harmon of Sugar Creek, who is waiting a call to military duty.
